JUDGE HOKE

Not Much Law at Sandy Bend But Lots of Justice.

BY M. QUAD. (Copyrighted.)

"The fust case on the docket today," said Judge Hoke, of Sandy Bend, as he opened a book of the statutes of Wyoming and a family Bible and lighted his pipe, "is that of Hop-Lee vs. Tom Shanger. This yere Hop-Lee runs a washhouse down by the creek, and while his washing is like his looks—nuthin' to brag of—he does well enough for the times we live in. Hop-Lee is likewise a heathen, and it's a question of whether he has got a soul to be saved, but under the statoots he's got the same rights as any of us, and it's my dooty to see that he gets a plumb squar' show."

"Tom Shanger, the defendant in the case," said his honor, as he motioned toward Tom with his pipestem, "has lived around yere fur a couple of y'ars, and we all know him. When I'm off the bench and behind the bar of my saloon, and jest plain Jim Hoke, I ain't puttin' Tom either ahead or behind the average. He's a critter with his good and bad p'ints. When I'm on the bench, same as now, I don't think he amounts to any great shakes, and I'm allus wonderin' why he don't hunt fur a change of climate. When you bile the case down it's a consarned heathen vs. a durn pore white man, and I don't propose to make any great fuss over it.

"Let us git at the facts in the case. This court has bin told that in the east they don't keer a kuss fur facts, but chuck out the law till everybody has had enough and is willing to quit. I'm runnin' things a leetle different at Sandy Bend. I'm sorter mixin' law, facts, jestice, heathens and white folks together and then comin' to a decision which neither side kin kick agin. Tom Shanger trades a shovel fur a shirt. That's like Tom. As long as he had a shovel he was sorter expected to earn at least enough to pay fur his drinks. He got rid of that shovel to git rid of work. From his looks I jedge he would like to buck agin my remarks, but if he talks back it will be contempt of court, and I'll raise him out o' the game. When he gits the shirt he diskivers that it ought to be washed. Some men would hev taken a bar of soap and gone down to the creek and rubbed away fur a day or two, but Mr. Shanger had a high-toned streak on. He carries the garment up to Hop-Lee, and puttin' on his swaggerest style, he sez:

"No Doubt About Your Funchin' Hop Lee."

"'Yere, you blamed wall-eyed son of a heathen, washee this shirtee plenty goodee and mighty nice, and I'll drop around after it in two days.'

"These are facts which no one disputes," said his honor as he turned over a dozen pages of the Bible to strike a new chapter. "Leastwise, this court hasn't heard 'em disputed, and he probably won't. After two days Tom goes up to the Confucius washhouse fur his shirt. Hop-Lee greets him with a smile of welcome. The shirt has been washed and ironed and dried, and is awaitin' its owner. Now arises the question of pay. There are critters at Sandy Bend who never put on clean shirts; there are others who wash their own at long intervals; there are others, still, who argy that a heathen ought to be mighty proud to wash a white man's shirt free, gratis, fur nothin'. Tom Shanger is one of the latter class. He was fur takin' that shirt away without handin' over any dust, but Hop-Lee files an objection. His eyes are on the squint, his knees knock together, and he'd sooner eat a rat than a rabbit, but he ain't washin' shirts fur the fun of the thing. He's in bizness to make his pile and go back to Chiny and run a duck-farm, and his motto is: 'No payee—no shirtee.' In the language of high society, Tom Shanger is turned down fur 15 cents.

"We hev got our facts, and now fur what they calls evidence. Facts and evidence may be all one puddin' in the east, but it ain't so yere. We want each one of them to stand out fur itself. The evidence goes to show that Tom grabbed that shirt to take it away, and that Hop-Lee also grabbed it to hang on till his wash-bill was paid. The plaintiff can't talk the English language fit fut coyotes to listen to, and the white man is a liar from 'way back. Howsumever, we kin imagine how it was. They jawed and jawed and fit and fit. They kussed each other and abused each other's relations. Bimeby, as they kept it up, the natural result followed. There was a rip and a tear, and Tom Shanger had the body of the shirt in his hands and Hop-Lee the tail. That's the evidence, and now sums what may be called corroboation. The Chinyman brings me the tail of the shirt and a black eye and wants justice done, and he has only departed when in walks Tom with the body of the shirt and slaps it down on the bar of my saloon and sez:

"'Jest look at that, will yer, and then tell me, is there any jestice fur a white man in these diggins?'

"We hev had facts and evidence and corroboration, and we now cum to testimony. There's the shirt and the shirt-tail. The court will now ask Hop-Lee if the defendant offered to pay his wash bill?'

"Him no payee," replied the Chinaman, as he rose.

"The court will now ask Tom Shanger why he didn't put down the dust?"

"Didn't hev it," replied Tom.

"Did you promise to pay at some future time?"

"I did, your honor; I spent over an hour talkin' soft soap to the heathen, but he was sot. It has cum to a purty pass when a heathen won't take a white man's word fur 15 cents."

"That's powerful true, Tom, but I can't say I'm blamin' the bloomin' heathen so very much. I'm noticin' that very few white men are takin' promises in place of cash. Wal, we've got in the testimony, and next follers the decision. The warrant was fur assault and battery, and there ain't no doubt about your punchin' Hop-Lee in the eye. I ain't goin' to rest the case on that punch alone, as any of us is liable to swat a Chinyman any day in the year. I'm takin' the hull thing together, from the time you traded your shovel fur the shirt. It was a plan on your part to evade work and taxes. Kin you scrape up five dollars, Tom?"

"Not in ten years, your honor!"

"Wall, then, it'll be 30 days in jail, and as we hain't got no jail this court will apply the boot and start you down the trail fur Sugarsville, and if you show up agin under six months I'll manage to make your heart ache. As to that shirt, you kin take along the upper half of it. Hop-Lee has got money, and though he brung this suit to git jestice, he'll hev to pay the costs. In fact, he pays six dollars fur what he gits, which may be called jestice, or the tail of a shirt. He can't make no great use of it, but he kin nail it up on the door as a sort of sign that everybody in this kentry, from the president down to a squint-eyed heathen, has rights under the law and is entitled to a fair show. I can't reckon there will be any appeal from this decision, but I might jest as well say to both plaintiff and defendant at this stage of the game that should they so fur forgit themselves as to kick again the verdict and want the case taken to a higher court, I should hev to look upon it as a personal matter, and act with my usual promptness. Court is now adjourned, and anyone else hankerin' after jestice will find me at the Red Dog saloon up to 12 o'clock to-night."

Lion's Love for Music.

While Rev. W. J. Davis, of San Francisco, was living in Africa his little son John, a boy of four years, went too near a chained lion in a neighbor's yard. It was called a pet lion, but was so wild and vicious that no living thing was safe within the radius of its beat. There was great consternation among the bystanders, but none were able to deliver the child. His governess, seeing the peril of the child, ran upstairs, seized an accordion and hastened to the window which looked out upon the lion. There, with a shout to attract his attention, she began playing a tune. The lion at once released his prey, went the length of its chain toward its fair charmer and stood in rapt attention. The boy in the meantime got up and ran to his mother. He never thought of crying until he entered the house and saw how excited everyone was. Then, quite out of danger, he had a good cry on his own account.

Hints to the Farmer

If He Will Only Heed His Family Almanac He Can't Go Very Far Wrong.

By M. QUAD. (Copyright)

Pounding a kicking cow with a fence-rail will not break her of the habit. She does not kick because she is naturally vicious, but because things have not been fully explained to her, and she feels that she is defending herself from personal attack. Every cow has a moral and legal right to know what a farmer means when he sits down alongside of her with a milk-pail and yells out: "Ho, now, but you hist over thar' and keep mighty darned quiet or I'll knock your blamed old horns off with a crow-bar!"

Many farmers waste precious hours in scratching the backs of their penned up pigs with corn-cobs under the idea that it helps to fatten. It has no more effect on a pig than scratching the head of a boy. There is no doubt that the pig enjoys it, and if scratched long enough he will fall asleep, but it is only a superficial sensation, and the tendency is to breed luxurious habits which cannot be gratified. Throw a few old knots of wood into the pen and let your pig scratch their own backs.

Farmers' wells are too often neglected, and a case of typhoid fever and a large doctor bill are the consequences. Once in ten years, at least, every well ought to be pumped out and the museums removed. It is surprising how many old boots, tin pails, table knives, wash-dishes, spring chickens, tobacco-boxes and broken jugs find their way into the family well, and what a difference they will make in the taste of the water after a few years.

A farmer living on the line of a railroad can very easily and cheaply teach a newly-bought cow not to look for pasturage between the deadly rails. Let him pen her up in the barnyard some morning, and while his wife blows the dinner-horn and his son explodes fire-crackers, he should chase the cow with a wheelbarrow and bump her heels as often as possible. A cow is a slow thinker, but it won't take her over two hours to arrive at the conclusion that it won't be safe for her to monkey with a freight train of 42 cars loaded with Portland cement. In case of a yearling calf he may have to be thrown over the fence and back a few times, but he will sooner or later reach the same conclusion.

The farmer cannot too fully understand that all the live stock on his farm with which he is brought in daily contact will partake more or less of his personal morals. If he kicks open the barn-doors in the morning and thumps the old mare with the shovel or pitch-fork to let her know that he is boss of that ranch, even the hens will be nervous and out of sorts all day. It is the placid, even-tempered farmer who has docile stock. If he leaves the kitchen door for the barnyard singing: "The Sweet Eye and Bye," he will find his cows placidly chewing their cuds and his hogs grunting contentedly in the morning sun. A horse understands when he is sworn at, and it embitters a cow to threaten to break her back with a straw-cutter. A pig in the pen which receives a cheery "Good morning" from its owner will fatten twice as fast as the one which climbs up to receive a blow from a club. It is so with the fowls. The farmer who puts on a benevolent, fatherly expression as he scatters the grain will find every hen doing her best that day to lay an egg to prove her gratitude and confidence, while the one who scowls and mutters and tries to knock some hen's head off with a clothes-prop will find himself feared and detested.

The average farmer has no tastes for the beautiful and artistic, or if he has he feels that they are too expensive to be indulged in. This is a very grave mistake on his part, and arises from the fact that he has not posted himself. The road-side front of the average farm presents to view nothing but fences, weeds and unsightly ditches. For the sum of $1,000 this front could be made a thing of beauty with English ivy and American rose bushes intermixed. Let the ivy also climb up and over the barns and sheds and straw-stacks, and thus add picturesqueness to the scenery. A hundred rose bushes scattered about a barnyard would draw the eye of a traveler at once, and who can say what would be the effect on the live-stock moving about!

If there is a creek on the farm a couple of thousand dollars will build an artificial lake, and a thousand more will stock it with gondolas and codfish. When evening comes, and the cows have been milked and the hogs fed, the farmer and his wife can float over the gentle bosom of their own inland sea and pull wary cod from his watery lair. At some point a moss-grown water-wheel should be erected. The cost is only a few hundred dollars, and the delight of travelers coming upon such a thing unexpectedly is almost unbounded. If there is not enough water in the creek to turn the wheel get a four-horse power engine and hide it amidst a grove of sunflowers. This will even enhance the general effect.

No farm is complete without a glade and a dell. Patents have been taken out and these articles will soon be on sale along with mowers and reapers, but meanwhile the farmer who cannot wait will find plans and specifications at the office of all reputable architects. Rustic bridges also look well on a farm, and the traveler never stops to inquire whether they span a babbling creek or are set on four posts in a corn-field. The price of picturesque old windmills, imported direct from Holland, is now within the reach of every farmer, and five or six of them whacing away on different parts of the farm would make traveling across the country in a one-horse wagon a thing of pleasure. It may be physically impossible to supply the highways of America with glens, waterfalls, ferneries, precipices and all that, but let each farmer beautify his portion to the extent that he can and the influence will be far-reaching and return him a grateful reward.

WRECKING A COWBOY.

(Copyrighted.)

"There is at least one cowboy in Arizona whose head is three sizes smaller than it was a month ago," said the Chicago drummer as he brushed the alkali dust off his coat collar. "At Tombstone I fell in with a young man from New Haven who was prowling over the country in search of a good thing, but not caring much whether he found it or not. One afternoon he stood with his back to the street reading the posters on a billboard. He had on a silk hat, and presently a cowboy emerged from a store on the opposite side of the square. One glance at that hat brought out a gun, and there was a pop! pop! pop! till six bullets had been fired. The tenderfoot never turned, nor let on that he heard the shooting. In ten seconds the gun was reloaded and there was another fusillade. There were a hundred people looking on and shouting and laughing, but the tenderfoot kept his back to the street until the twelfth shot had been fired. Then he calmly turned about, removed his hat and placed it on the ground, and stepping back a pace or two he drew his gun and shot it to pieces. The remains were yet smoking when he picked them up, crossed the square and holding the handful of old hat out to the cowboy, he humbly said:

"'If you have a couple of months to spare I might be willing to teach you how to handle a gun.'"

"But hadn't the cowboy's bullets hit the hat?" was asked.

"Every blessed one of them," replied the drummer, "but no one knew it except the tenderfoot, and he destroyed all evidence by his own shooting. The crowd took it that the cowboy had missed and raised a laugh on him, and when he straddled his cayuse and loped down the street, he looked as homesick as a dog a thousand miles from home."

SALOON KEEPER'S CONVERSION

A few years ago I was engaged in delivering temperance lectures in one of our great mining and agricultural states, west of the Mississippi river.

In traveling to the town of L——, in the northern part of the state, where I had an engagement to lecture, I had to change cars at the little mining town of M——. I was informed that my train was some two hours late. At first I was irritated considerably. My looks must have betrayed my state of mind, as the station agent, a pleasant faced and very polite young man, seemed to sympathize with me. Some way I was impressed by his appearance, and I noticed that he limped when walking, as a man does with an artificial limb.

I walked back and forth along the depot platform for several minutes, deeply absorbed in contemplation of my surroundings, when I was accosted by an old gentleman sitting on a truck.

"Travelin', fare?" he asked, with the innocent assurance of the country gossip.

"Only to L——," I replied.

I then resumed my walk, and as I came near him he seemed to be looking me over as though trying to determine what business or calling I was engaged in. When I came opposite him again, he asked:

"In business there?"

Thinking it would help to pass away the time, I concluded to humor his curiosity. Accordingly I told him my business.

"Whew! Temperance lecturin', eh? Well, that brings me in mind of some mighty interestin' times in this town, which ended by old Bob Johnson, the licker seller, signin' the pledge."

"PICKED HIM UP AND THROWED HIM OUT."

"Tell me about it," I said, my curiosity aroused.

"Well, as you're in the business, and I have nothin' much to do, I don't care if I do."

I then seated myself beside him, and prepared to listen to an account of what I was sure must have been "interestin'" times. After taking a fresh chew of "plug," he began:

"About five years ago a temperance lecturer come along here and stirred things up, and the consequence was at the next election the people, accordin' to the local option law, voted to close up the saloons in this county. They all took it pretty easy but Bob Johnson, who had rented his farm out and gone into the licker business here, and made a fortune at it. He claimed that it was only a passin' sentiment, and would soon die out, and the people come to their senses again, and, anyway, he said he didn't propose to be drove out of a legitimate and profitable business by a passel of sentimental fools. So, after his license was taken away, he opened up a drug store. But it was an open secret that he sold whisky in the back room to every one that could be depended on not to give it away to the grand jury.

"Well, things went on in this way for quite awhile. He was jerked up and fined several times, but as the fines amounted to much less than the licenses, under the old system, it didn't have much effect, and as time went on it seemed harder and harder to get an indictment against him. Bob began to boast that local option was just the thing for the licker dealer, and opened up gamblin' rooms in connection with his 'doggery,' as the temperance people called it.

"Well, after awhile when it became plain that the law wasn't goin' to stop it, the miners' wives, who were the worst sufferers from the business, organized themselves into a club to stop it by force. Mrs. Jones, a stout English woman, was elected leader and one night they marched down to old Bob's store. Starting to go in, they were met by Bob, who ordered them to leave the premises. But they were not to be bluffed so easy. Mrs. Jones and some others him picked up and throwed him out in the street. Old Bob drawed his revolver, but the wimmen told him if he fired a shot they would hang him. He seen they meant it, and sneaked off. Well, they emptied the licker out in the street, smashed all the bottles, then went upstairs and broke up all the gamblin' tables. A few minutes after they left, the flames busted out at the winders, and it was found the whole inside was afire. They tried to put it out, but couldn't. Of course, the wimmen said the fire was accidental, but some that ought to know said that one of the wimmen whose husband had been shot there in a quarrel over a game dropped a lighted match in a barl of old papers.

"Old Bob made a big blow about sendin' people to the penitentiary, but as most all the self-respectin' people sided with the wimmen, nothin' come of it.

"Bob then built the big stone front brick you see way down at the lower end of the street, and went into the same biz as before. But I must git to the point of my story. You see, Bob argued that a saloon was no temptation, and them that didn't want to drink didn't have to, and them that did would get it anyhow. And he had a son Charley, a young man that everybody liked, and it was known that he had any bad habits. And Bob used to point to Charley as an example, and say if a saloon was a temptation, why wasn't he a drunkard?

"Well, to come to the point, one day Charley came up here to the depot to take the train to the county seat. A freight train came along ahead of the passenger, and Charley 'lowed he'd ride down on it. The train did not stop here at the depot, only at the crossin' above, and by the time it came along here, it was runnin' pretty lively. Charley walked down there to the lower end of the platform, and as the caboose came past, he tried to get on the front platform. He caught the railin' with one hand, but his feet flew up and then he seemed to be sucked down under the car. I was standin' right out there in front of where we are setting. When he got about opposite me, he seemed to let loose, and went down under the cars. I thought he was killed, and shut my eyes to hide the sight. When I looked again, the train was past, and I saw Charley Johnson writhin' on the track. We picked him up and some one ran for a doctor. One of his legs was cut off just above the ankle. In his inside pocket was found a half-emptied bottle of whisky. The truth was out—he had been tempted. The licker had caused the accident.

"About two weeks after the accident, old Bob walked into the temperance meetin' one night, went straight up to the front, called for the pledge, and signed it. Then he declared that he would spend every dollar he had made out of the business in educatin' the children of the man he had wronged. And he kept his word. That's how it happens that big brick is used for a public library instead of a saloon. But there is your train," said the old man, as the whistle of a locomotive was heard in the distance.

"But what became of Charley?" I asked. "Did he get well?"

"I guess so. That's him there," he replied, pointing to the station agent, who was signaling my train to stop.—Lief Robertson, in ——.

RELIABLE TESTIMONY.

Points in Favor of the Use of Alcohol and Their Refutation by a Prominent Physician.

Dr. Bienfait, according to the British Medical Journal, offers the following objections to the use of alcohol:

1. Is alcohol a digestive? No; its ingestion produces a passing excitation; interrupts the proper action of the muscles of the stomach, because it has, at an anesthetic after-harm irritated the wall of that organ, and it drives the blood to the skin, and so interferes with the action of the gastric juice.

2. Is alcohol an appetizer? No; it produces an excitation of the stomach which causes a sensation taken for hunger.

3. Is alcohol a food? No; it does not correspond to the definition of a food, and the heat that it seems to produce does not serve as actual warmth.

4. Is alcohol heating? No; it causes a flow of blood to the skin and lowering of temperature.

5. Is alcohol a stimulant? No; in no case, either physical or mental.

6. Is alcohol a protector against contagion? No; it predisposes the body to contagion.

7. Can we live without alcohol? This idea that we cannot live without alcohol is a prejudice that numerous facts contradict.

8. Is alcohol good for children? It should never be given to children.

9. Does alcohol increase longevity? According to reliable statistics alcohol diminishes longevity.

THE BOY PHENOMENON STANDS PEERLESS AND ALONE AS THE GREATEST MAGNETIC HEALER OF MODERN TIMES.

CHRONIC DISEASES DAILY CURED WHICH HAVE ALWAYS BEEN REGARDED AS INCURABLE—COMING FROM MILES AROUND TO BE HEALED BY THE BOY PHENOMENON, WHO WILL BE AT THE RANDALL HOTEL TWO WEEKS LONGER.

It is astonishing how good news will spread. From every ward and street come reports of people talking about the wonderful cures being performed by the Boy Phenomenon. Truth, genuine merit, skill, a wonderful gift of healing and honorable methods are sure to receive their just reward, and it is upon and along these lines that he has secured the confidence of the public. So many cures have been accomplished that it is next to impossible to investigate them all, but a few will be given publicity each day for the benefit of the afflicted who are desirous of investigating some cure before undergoing treatment.

When anything that promises relief is offered you, the first thing you want to know is if it ever cured anyone else and, what is more important, if they STAYED cured, and the amount of faith you will have in trying it will depend upon the reliability of the testimony offered in its behalf. When this is from remote strangers away beyond the reach of your consultation, doubts are sure to arise, but when it comes from disinterested people whom you know as your citizens and neighbors and can consult at any time, its reliability is apparent - its truth not to be doubted.

The wonderful recovery of Mr. Paul Bauman, of 54 Spy Run avenue. Everyone in Fort Wayne knows Paul, as he is one of the heroes of the Spanish war, and contracted the rheumatism in the camps of the south. His cure was so wonderful that it even surprised the physician in charge. His simple statement is contained in a letter to the Boy, expressing his heartfelt gratitude for the great benefit he derived:

THE BOY WONDER:

I wish to express my heartfelt thanks and everlasting gratitude for what you have done for me. The results of your treatment have surprised all who knew of my condition. The rheumatism I got while in camp two years ago had so stiffened my joints that I could not do any work. The painful agony extended all over my body, but was worse in the right sciatic nerve. I had been given up as incurable by all other methods, but I have not had a pain nor used my cane since you treated me. Thanking you again, I remain,

Respectfullly.

PAUL BAUMAN

Those who wish to take advantage of the presence here of this remarkable healer should lose no time in taking advantage of this golden opportunity, which may never occur again. Office hours at the Randall hotel daily, except Sunday, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

G. M. KRUDOP,

NEW RELIEF LAW

IS EXPLAINED BY ALEXANDER JOHNSON.

UNION CHARITIES MEETING

AT BAPTIST TABERNACLE SUNDAY AFTERNOON.

MUCH GOOD WORK IS DONE

ANNUAL MEETING TO BE HELD IN JANUARY.

The union charity meeting at the Baptist tabernacle Sunday afternoon under the auspices of the Associated Charities was largely attended, and proved a most interesting and helpful gathering to those who are interested in relief work in this city. E. F. Yarnelle presided, and the music was rendered by the Baptist choir.

The leading feature of the gathering was an address upon the new township poor relief law by Alexander Johnson. Mr. Johnson was one of the framers of the new enactment and he explained its workings and its advantages. In part Mr Johnson said:

MR. JOHNSON'S ADDRESS.

"During the last few years, beginning in 1889, there has been a notable series of new laws enacted in Indiana. These have all been based on scientific theories, at the same time, they have been made very practical. Take, for instance, the Board of Children's Guardian law, and other new laws for the care of dependent children. These have been based on the principles of prevention rather than cure of evil, and the establishment of natural relations Take the Board of State Charities law, and the more recent law for county boards of charities. These have been based on the theory that the public servants need the public eye upon them, and that unpaid service rendered by patriotic and public spirited people is sometimes the best. So with the new laws governing our prisons, hospitals for the insane and other institutions: these have all been based upon well known and well tested principles of economic science.

"This course, so likely to be beneficial, was particularly well marked in the reform legislation of last winter. The new laws for the government of counties and townships were prepared by a large committee who called to their aid men who had not only studied the principles of government, but who had carefully examined plans adopted in other states, which had met with success or with failure. The law regulating poor relief by the township trustee was very carefully based upon what are known as the principles of scientific charity. These principles have been adopted in nearly every large city in the country as the proper ones to govern the work of caring for the poor. They have been found successful; they aim to prevent pauperism; to help the poor to help themselves; to keep up the natural relations of life, so that friends able to help friends in distress should be called upon to do so; that those in distress able to labor should be urged and helped to find work; that those administering relief should have some one to whom they might report and who should exercise a certain check upon their work; that business methods of careful knowledge and accurate record should be the rule in all cases; that people working to a common end should work in harmony and not at cross purposes. These are the fundamentals of scientific charity, and these are principles upon which the new law was drafted

"Further considerations than those of the scientific principles of charity governed the work of the committee in drafting the law The most important of these considerations were those based upon the actual work of the 1,100 townships in Indiana in caring for the poor as shown by the records in the office of the Board of State Charities. These records are very interesting. They show a striking degree of variation in the number of people relieved, and the amount of money spent in different townships from which some useful conclusions may readily be drawn. For example, the amount of tax levy for relief purposes in two different townships of this state where all external circumstances were apparently about the same, was in one case 1-3 of a cent and in the other case 1-3 of a dollar on the $100 valuation. In different townships the number of persons relieved has varied from one in every eight of the population to one in 250 of the population. In two counties side by side, inhabited by similar people, with no reason that could be assigned for any great difference, the number of persons relieved has been in the one county 1 in every 13 of the population, and in the next one 1 in 48 of the population. Between the townships of one county all having very similar circumstances, the number of persons relieved has varied from 1 in 16 of the population to 1 in 152. These and many similar facts have forced the conclusion that the cause of the varying amount of relief distributed in any given township has not been the conditions of the people, the pressure of population, the presence or absence of large cities, the habits of life, the amount of real poverty, although all these have had some share in determining the amount of relief. But the real cause in producing the result has been the businesslike or unbusinesslike administration of the township trustees' office.

"One further set of considerations I must mention. These were based upon what had actually been done by certain township trustees who were instructed, public-spirited as well as charitable. It has been found entirely practicable to apply the principles mentioned above as being those of scientific charity to the work of the township trustees' office. Trustees have found it possible to cooperate with other benevolent people, to make thorough investigations, to urge those able to work to find employment, and sometimes to help them to do so, to refuse aid to able-bodied traveling mendicants, and by these and many other means to reduce the amount of pauperism, with its consequent vice, in their townships.

"Now the committee who drafted this bill used these three sets of considerations in their work, and the result has been the most advanced legislation on the subject in the United States. No other charity law so thoroughly carries out the great principles of economic science which we are learning to regard as safeguards for the people.

"One strange misunderstanding seems to have frequently occurred. Why it should have arisen is hard to see, for the language of the act seems plain enough. It has been supposed that the act limits the township trustee to a certain definite amount in any given case and that in no case could this be exceeded. The law distinctly states that when a trustee has given one case $15 in money, or when the relief has extended over a period of three months, he shall report the case, with full particulars, to the board of county commissioners. If they approve his action he shall continue relieving the case until he has again expended $15 or again carried it over a period of three months, and so on, just as long as he can secure the approval of the commissioners. Under this law in a county where the commissioners meet monthly, it would be possible for a trustee to relieve one case to the extent of $180 per annum, provided the commissioners approved but it is rare indeed that a trustee desires to give a case more than $15 a quarter, and this he can do where the commissioners meet only quarterly. This provision of the law was intended to avoid the numerous unworthy pension cases which have been carried along by many trustees, while it made it possible for a really worthy case to be assisted quite liberally and carried along if necessary from year to year, provided the commissioners agreed with the trustee that this is the best method of aiding that particular case.

"The bane of pauper legislation has always and everywhere been the legislating for extreme cases. Our laws should be made to meet the average case, and the extreme cases should be left to that never-failing source of relief, the human sentiments of the people. Otherwise numerous cases will be classed as extreme when they really ought not to be so classed. Public relief should be limited very strictly or it will be abused.

"There have been some doleful predictions made that the new law would crowd the county poor asylum. Only a misunderstanding of the law could lead to such a notion. It will be seen from what I have said above that it is very easy for the county commissioners to prevent any overcrowding by a simple agreement with the township trustee. But without this agreement there is no danger of the asylum being overcrowded because of the diminishing of outdoor relief. If such a thing should follow, it would be the first time in the history of charity that it has occurred. Numerous expermiments have been made, many of them on a wholesale scale, where outdoor relief has been cut off entirely, but it has never affected the poor-house population. The experience of Brooklyn, New York, Philadelphia and many other eastern cities might be cited. In the west, both Chicago and Cincinnati have cut off outdoor relief temporarily without notice and under very aggravated circumstances, yet in no case was there a rush to the poor house. But if there should be extreme cases which require help beyond what the trustee can give under this law, there is no danger that the benevolent hearts of our people will allow anybody to die of starvation. It is better for all of us that we should remember we have a duty to our suffering brothers, a duty which is not discharged when we simply turn them over to the overseer of the poor for outdoor relief."

CONSTITUTION AMENDED.

The constitution of the Associated Charities was then by vote amended so that the annual meeting of the society for the election of members of the executive committee shall be held on the second Monday in January, at which time five members shall be elected to serve for a term of three years each.

Secretary Mohler gave a brief talk concerning the workings of the society and stated that there are now on the records about 1,700 families who have either applied for help, been helped or are being helped by some of the relief societies and churches who co-operate with the associated body. These records are of value in bestowing relief where it is most needed. Mr. Mohler spoke of the splendid work being done by some of these organizations and commended them highly.

Mrs. A. D. Guild commended the work of the association as better than indiscriminate charity, as it insured the benefits going to the deserving poor instead of being an indiscriminate aid to all who ask for it. The association is in good condition and will begin the new year free from indebtedness.

THE DEATHS.

THOMPSON.

After an illness of four weeks J. Edward Thompson died Sunday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs George W. Thompson, 246 East Lewis street, at the age of nineteen years. Death was due to kidney trouble. The young man was bright and industrious, a student at the International Business college, and had a future of much promise before him.

The funeral services will be held from the residence Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Dr. Wagenhals officiating.

SPADE.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oswin O. Spade, of 328 West Main street, died Sunday from convulsions, at the age of one day. The funeral services were held this morning.

STIRLING.

Irene Frances Stirling, an inmate of the school for feeble minded, died Sunday morning from tuberculosis at the age of fourteen years. The funeral services were held today.

PALMER.

Mrs. Jane Palmer died at noon today at the home of her son-in-law, Edward Parisot, 74 Laselle street, after an extended illness. Mrs. Palmer was 69 years of age and has lived in the city about six years. Her husband died about four years ago. Several children survive. The family resided for many years on a farm near Arcola.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

TO SELL NEW AVELINE.

The New Aveline house was to have been sold at administrator's sale this afternoon. T. B. Shoaff, who holds the first mortgage, is in the city and is expected to offer the only bid. If the bids offered do not reach the amount of the first mortgage, the sale will be postponed until tomorrow. The Madison Square bank of New York holds a second mortgage and attorneys are here as representatives of the bank, but will offer no bid in excess of the first mortgage.

HAS A RARE PRIZE.

C. H. Currier, the well known Western Union operator, is the possessor of two rare old books valued at $130. They are Harriet Martineau's "Society in America," and were published in 1837. At a recent auction sale of old volumes in Chicago copies of this work brought the high figure named, and the item caught Mr. Currier's attention. He recalled that he had a set of the books, and on examniation found them in ood condition. He will place the books on sale, and it is pretty certain Mr. Currier has a prize.

THANKSGIVING DINNER.

The Thanksgiving dinner at the Grace Reformed church promises to surpass former annual efforts and that is a large claim to make. The several committees in charge of preparations and those who will direct serving of the dinner have worked diligently and to good purpose. The dinner will be served from 12 to 3 p. m., Thursday. Following is the menu:

Turkey, Cranberry Sauce,
Potatoes,
Chicken, Scalloped Oysters,
Corn, Slaw, Celery,
Mince and Apple Pie,
Plum Pudding, Fruit,
Bread, Butter, Jelly,
Coffee, Tea.

A progressive pedro party was given Saturday evening at the home of Miss Alma Angst, of Madison street. The party was delightfully entertained by the Crystal Mandolin club. Miss Blanche amar and Martin Wright won the first prize and Miss Mary Ryan and Christ. Bicknese the booby.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

The annual institute of Allen county farmers will be held in this city January 12 and 13, and at a meeting held Saturday afternoon at the city hall the general committee completed arrangements for an excellent program. There will be addresses by Hon. Cal Husselman, of Auburn; Mrs. Florence Ross, of Southport, and numerous talks on timely topics by local farmers. There will be splendid music at the sessions, and the chairman and secretary were directed to complete the program and arrange all further details. During the summer the president of the county institute, Alexander Johnson, has visited every township institute, and much interest has been shown in the coming county gathering. At the meeting of the general committee on Saturday the townships were represented as follows: Adams, Charles Piepenbink; Aboite, W. Z. Clarke; Eel River, Wesley Johnson; Jackson, G. W. Meyers and J. D. Carpenter; Lake, Levi Binkley and John Valentine; Marion, Marion Smith and wife; Pleasant, Marion Ake; St. Joseph, J. E. Reichelderfer; Washington, Mrs. W. F. Devilbiss, George Thumm and Alexander Johnson.

WEDDED ON SUNDAY.

Mrs. Mary Johnson and Charles Bradtmiller were united in marriage Sunday afternoon at the parsonage of St. John's Reformed church by Rev. J. H. Bosch, in the presence of a few immediate relatives. The bride is a niece of Conrad Neireiter, the well-known insurance agent. The marriage was a complete surprise to the many friends of the contracting parties.

DAMAGED BY FIRE.

The Aldine block, on East Berry street, was damaged to the extent of about $1,000 by fire early Sunday morning, and a serious conflagration was averted only by the prompt work of the fire laddies. Volumes of smoke were issuing from the building when the department arrived, and it was some little time before the fire could be found. It was discovered at last under some flooring and was extinguished without much difficulty. The Schmidt tailor shop and the Aldine restaurant are the principal losers. Several roomers in the upper flooors became frightened and ran to the street in their night clothes and several children were carried out.

The damage to the Schmidt tailoring establishment was caused chiefly by smoke, and the loss to Mr. Schmidt will be about $600, covered by insurance. The fire originated on the first floor of the restaurant and was caused by an over heated furnace.

GIRLS GO BACK TO WORK

PENDING ADJUSTMENT OF A PRICE SCHEDULE.

Many of the girls who went out on a strike at Foster's shirt waist factory Saturday resumed work this afternoon, pending an adjustment of the scale of prices to be paid for making the new style garments for next season's wear. Mr. Foster says a scale of prices for this work has not yet been made, but that it will be posted in a day or two, and he believes it will be entirely satisfactory. If it is not acceptable to the operatives, they will meet the proprietor and consider the matter.

The walk-out Saturday occurred with hardly a warning, and in a few minutes nearly two hundred girls employed on the bodies of the garments had folded up their work, donned their wraps and left the building. The cause of the walk-out was dissatisfaction at the prices for the new patterns of garments for the season of 1900, work on which has just been commenced. The scale varies each year with the character of the garments made, and is governed by the amount of work required on each style. Two of the young ladies called at The Sentinel office and stated that a committee had waited on Mr. Foster Saturday and that he declined to give them satisfaction. They then requested him to go before them in a body, but this he declined to do, but finally stated that all who did not return to work by a certain hour would be understood as surrendering their machines. Nearly all the two hundred girls in the department left the building. Those in the collar and cuff department had no grievance and continued at work.

This morning the girls sent a committee to see Mr. Foster, and the result was the understanding by which work is to go on until a schedule of prices is arranged for the work.

Mr. Foster believes the strike occurred from a misunderstanding of his position, and says a strike is not necessary to get right prices in his establishment. He says there is no disposition to reduce prices, and is confident when the scale is fixed there will be no dissatisfaction with it. "It is not always possible," said he, "to fix the right price until the girls have become accustomed to the work. Quite frequently we find a garment more tedious to make than we anticipated, and in that case the matter is brought to my attention, and it has always been easy to fix a satisfactory price."

Mr. Foster says a few of the girls went to work this morning, and a larger number this afternoon. No attempt to fill their places will be made until all who desire to return to work have an opportunity to do so.

Tom, the eight year-old-son of Mr. and Mrs. George Horton, of East Williams street, fell and fractured his wrist Saturday.

E. J. Hathorne is in the city visiting friends. Mr. Hathorne has just recovered from a severe illness with pneumonia and has arranged to spend the winter in Colorado, where he hopes to fully recuperate his health.

Little Pimples Turn to Cancer.

Cancer often results from an impurity in the blood, inherited from generations back. Few people are entirely free from some taint in the blood, and it is impossible to tell when it will break out in the form of dreaded Cancer. What has appeared to be a mere pimple or scratch has developed into the most malignant Cancer.

"I had a severe Cancer which was at first only a few blotches, that I thought would soon pass away. I was treated by several able physicians, but in spite of their efforts the Cancer spread until my condition became alarming. After many months of treatment and growing steadily worse, I decided to try S. S. S. which was so strongly recommended. The first bottle produced an improvement. I continued the medicine, and in four months the last little scab dropped off. Ten years have elapsed, and not a sign of the disease has returned."

B. F. WILLIAMS,
Gillsburg, Miss.

It is dangerous to experiment with Cancer. The disease is beyond the skill of physicians. S. S. S. is the only cure, because it is the only remedy which goes deep enough to reach Cancer.

CELERY KING
NATURE'S REMEDY

Beautiful Complexions

Come from pure, untainted blood. No complexion can be muddy, mottled or sallow if the blood is pure; no complexion can be clear of blemishes if the blood is not pure. More than this; disease cannot exist in a body supplied with pure blood. This is the secret of the success of Celery King. It makes pure blood.

The Fort Wayne Ministerial association held their regular meeting at the Berry street M. E. church this morning.

Sunday evening at the home of the bride's parents, 91 South Wall street, Mr. William Blaising and Miss Grace Eccleston, in the presence of a few friends, were united in marriage, Rev. William D. Parr officiating. The company had a cheerful time. The newly married couple will make Fort Wayne their home.

A SILVER WEDDING.

Saturday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Spaulding were pleasantly surprised at their home in Lakeside, the occasion being the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding. In the afternoon the Lakeside Aid society called, and after spending a delightful afternoon, presented them with a number of handsome and valuable presents. In the evening the members of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Berry street M. E. church, accompanied by their husbands, arrived and spent a pleasant evening. This society also left an elegant memento of their visit.

REVIVAL AT WAYNE STREET

The services at the Wayne street church are to be continued. Several conversions are reported and the people are taking a deep interest. Dr. Lamport is preaching most excellent sermons. Both sermons yesterday were noted ones. He will preach each evening until notice is given otherwise. The singing is good and spiritual. Everybody cordially invited.

WILL CONSOLIDATE.

The members of the Fort Wayne Colony, No. 1, Sons of Columbus, and the members of the recently formed lodge of Knights of Columbus, have been discussing the advisability of merging the former order into the latter, and the initial steps will be taken soon. Nearly all the members of the Sons of Columbus are members of the Knights, and it is thought that by consolidating the two a very strong organization may be formed. If the consolidation takes place, it is probable that the ladies' auxiliary, known as the Daughters of Isabella, will be discontinued and a new organization formed to replace it.

WILL MEET TONIGHT.

At the city hall at 8 o'clock this evening a meeting will be held to take the preliminary steps toward organizing a volunteer infantry company in this city, to be mustered into the Indiana national guard. Nearly the required number have already signified their willingness to join the new organizatiton, and its formation is reasonably certain. Among other business to be transacted this evening is the selection of a hall and arranging a date for the mustering of the men into the service.

Dr. Miles F. Porter desires to announce that from this date he will limit his practice to Surgery, Obstetrics, Diseases of Women and Consultations.

All day Saturday and today the sidewalk in front of the Hoosier Shoe Store has been thronged with ladies admiring the unique display of ladies' patent leather dress boots that this house will sell for $2.48. The sale commences tomorrow morning and will continue only four days.

BLACK ROCK.

From the "St. Louis Globe-Democrat." "'Ralph Connor' is some man's nom de plume. The world will insist on knowing whose. One who can write such a book as 'Black Rock' has no right to conceal his identity behind a pen name. Not since 'Ian Maclearen' gave us the 'Bonnie Briar Bush' stories has any one produced so moving a series of sketches as this tale of the Selkirks. 'Ralph Connor' has gone into the heart of the Northwest Canadian mountains and has painted for us a picture of life in the lumber and mining camps of surpassing merit. With perfect wholesomeness, with exquisite delicacy, with entire fidelity, with truest pathos, with freshest humor he has delineated character. Las analyzed motives and emotions and has portrayed life. Some of his characters deserve immortality, so faithfully are they created. Chief of these is the young minister who gives his best endeavors for the spiritual, moral and material advancement of the rough miners and lumbermen, gathered there from many lands and climes, and the saintly, gentle Mrs. Mavor, who so ably seconds his efforts. And there are rough men, but most of them rough only in exterior and by force of circumstances; their hearts are big and warm and filled with that which is best in man. 'Black Rock,' if it has a reading commensurate with its merits, will prove one of the most popular, as it is one of the best and most wholesome books of the year." A limited number of these books can be had at this office at 75c each. Regular price, $1.25.

AGUINALDO'S ARMY IS WHOLLY DISORGANIZED.

OTIS REPORTS THE SITUATION

INSURGENTS BROKEN UP INTO SMALL BANDS.

LAWTON CAPTURES STORES

AMERICAN AND SPANISH PRISONERS RELEASED.

Washington, Nov. 27.—General Otis today reports the situation in the Philippines in the following dispatch to the war department:

"Manila, Nov. 27.—Steamer from San Fabian yesterday brought one hundred and fifteen Spanish prisoners, seventy-five thousand dollars insurgent government money and other property captured by Lawton's troops near Taygug on 25th. Wheaton's troops, Fowler's company, Thirty-third, drove enemy westward from Mangutaren, few miles southwest of Dagupan, capturing five three-inch muzzle-loading guns, twelve rifles, twelve thousand rounds Maxim cartridges, one thousand shrapnel, eight hundred pounds of powder and other property; also ninety-four Spanish and seven American prisoners.

"Bell, with Thirty-sixth infantry, in pursuit and will march down western Luzon coast.

"Indications are two or three bodies insurgent troops, numbering five hundred or more men each, in mountains west railroad; be readily handled by MacArthur; they have the bulk of the insurgent artillery, all of which will be captured unless buried.

"Young still in pursuit of Aguinaldo, who is heading for Bangue, few miles east of Vigan; Young, with cavalry and scouts, is followed by battalion of Thirty-third and by balance battalion of Twenty-second; two battalions Thirty-third en route for Vigan by military post road.

"Young's reception by inhabitants enthusiastic; they give all aid possible.

"Aguinaldo has collected more than one thousand of his trops at the north; probably most will desert him. Number of small detachments insurgent troops throughout country north of Manila have been captured and inhabitants manifest gratitude for deliverance. Indications are that insurgent force south of Manila disintegrating and troops going to their homes. Reports from southern islands favorable; Zamboogan insurgents surrendered to our troops and no trouble anticipated there."

NATIVE ARMY SCATTERS.

Manila, Nov. 27.—The last Filipino council of war was held by the retreating leaders at Bayambang Nov. 13, in the house now occupied by General MacArthur. It was attended by Aguinaldo and some members of the so-called cabinet.

Information has reached General MacArthur from several sources to the effect that the council recognized the futility of attempting further resistance to the Americans with united forces and agreed that the Filipino troops should scatter and should hereafter follow guerrilla methods.

Reports of ambuscades and skirmishes come from every section of the country along the railroads. Those districts seem to be filled with small bands. Yesterday four men of Company D, Ninth infantry, were foraging beyond Bamban, when twenty Filipinos took them in ambush, killing one and capturing the other three. The Americans resisted for half an hour.

The firing being heard at Bamban, Lieutenant Frazer, with a squad, followed the retreating Filipinos several miles. The Americans found the body of the soldier Boloed. They burned the hamlet where the fight took place.

Three Filipino riflemen ambushed an American surgeon near Capas. He shot one and the others fled.

Between Bamban and Angeles a mule train was fired upon by the insurgents, and a Spaniard, a former prisoner of the Filipinos, who was with the train, was shot.

At Malasiqui the officials who welcomed the Americans were murdered. This was the only railroad town which the Americans did not garrison, and on the night the troops withdrew a band of insurgents dragged Antonio Mejia, president of the town, into the street and cut his throat. The murderers then assassinated the vice president and five members of the town council in the same manner and told the frightened natives who witnessed the slaughter to spread the news that a similar fate awaited all friends of the Americans

ZAMBOANGA SURRENDERS.

Washington, Nov. 27.—Secretary of the Navy Long has received a cablegram from Admiral Watson informing him that the entire province of Zamboanga, island of Mindanao, had surrendered unconditionally to Commander Very of the Castine. The surrender was made on the 18th inst. Admiral Watson's dispatch, which was dated Cavite, Nov. 25, 1899, was as follows:

"On Nov. 18 entire province of Zamboanga surrendered to Very unconditionally. Delivery of all guns promised. Numerous local chiefs declared loyalty."

The information contained in Admiral Watson's dispatch was received by the president and his advisers with unconcealed satisfaction. The surrender of the province of Zamboanga is regarded as the beginning of the end of the revolution in the island of Mindanao, and it is believed will be a hard blow to those who are still endeavoring to maintain the insurrection in the island of Luzon.

EVACUATED BY INSURGENTS.

Manila, Nov. 27.—11:30 a. m.—The insurgents have evacuated Magalaren, province of Pangasinan, leaving seven American and ninety-four Spanish prisoners who escaped in the confusion of the Filipino retreat. The Americans are P. J. Green and Geo. Powers, of the battleship Oregon; Thomas Edwards and Charles Bird, of the Sixteenth infantry; Henry W. James, of the Twelfth infantry; John Desmond, of the signal corps, and F. H. Huber, of Lowe's scouts. They report that two Americans who were unable to escape are with the insurgents. They are David Scott, of the Twenty-fourth infantry, and Wm. Sherby, of the hospital corps. Four deserters are with the Filipinos, Howard, Martin and Ford, of the Californians, and Watts, whose former regiment is unknown. Howard is the only one serving with the insurgents. He is a captain of artillery.

Colonel Bell, of the Thirty-fourth volunteers, arrived at Mangalaren last evening after a hard march and fording the Agno. He found that Fowler's company, of the Thirty-third, had occupied the town for two days. The insurgents, General Alejandrino commanding, retreated to the mountains behind the town, short of food and ammunition. Besides this, his men were deserting and six cannon, which the insurgents were dragging, impeded their march. Colonel Bell proposes to follow the insurgents until he can bring about a decisive battle or they are scattered. Mangalaren was strongly fortified with rifle pits commanding the roads, but the insurgents abandoned the place without firing a shot.

BOY SAVES A FAST TRAIN.

Brazil, Ind., Nov. 27.—The courage and presence of mind of fourteen-year-old Frank Williams prevented a disastrous wreck on the Vandalia railroad yesterday. Williams was coming from Knightsville to this city when he noticed a broken rail which had been pressed out of position by a freight train some hours before. The lad heard the westbound passenger and mail train whistle for the Knightsville station. Knowing that the train did not stop there, the boy ran up the track and when he sighted the train stood between the rails and waved his hat. The engineer, seeing the boy would not leave the track, reversed the lever and applied the air brake, stopping the train within a few feet of the broken rail. The engineer stated that he was running fifty miles an hour when he saw the boy and had his engine struck the broken rail with such great speed a fearful wreck would have resulted.

COMPOSITE OF MADONNAS.

Indianapolis, Nov. 27—A composite photograph of all the greatest Madonnas painted by the old masters during 300 years has just been made by Joseph Gray Kitchell, of Indianapolis, after many months' work. The face is marvelously beautiful—perhaps the highest type idealized by man, combining, as it does, all that is supreme in the conceptions of such painters as Raphael, Murillo, etc. Also as a scientific contribution to art the result is significant. The first copy has been ordered for the congressional library.

The Maumee club will on next Wednesday evening give its fifth annual ball at Vogely's hall. The dancing program will consist of twenty-four numbers. The club is composed of some of the most popular young men of the east side. The arrangements are in charge of P. J. Parrant, C. Volz and W. D. Major.

BATTLE REPORTED

LORD METHUNE SAID TO HAVE HONEY NEST KLOFE.

MUCH AMMUNITION CAPTURED

COMBINED ATTACK BY BOERS FIXED FOR TODAY.

LORD METHUEN IS A SAVIOR

HIS VICTORY TURNS TIDES OF POLITICS.

Cape Town, Nov. 27.—Afternoon.—It is reported that General Metheun has captured Honey Nest Klofe, ten miles north of Crahpan, and two million rounds of ammunition.

A COMBINED ATTACK.

Estcourt, Sunday, Nov. 26.—The railroad bridge at Frere, spanning a wide stream, has been destroyed by the Boers, who are reported to be retiring rapidly.

A general advance upon Colenso has been ordered and a flying column has left here to intercept the Boer raiding parties.

A reliable messenger from Ladysmith says he gathered from the Boers that they proposed a combined attack all over the country for today.

TURNED THE TIDE.

London, Nov. 27.—None too soon for the British has come the news of the improved outlook for them on both the eastern and western sides of the South African republics, as the constant small reverses were arousing keen resentment against the authorities here.

This was evident by the result of the Wadsworth election to the London county council, on Saturday, when the previous conservative plurality of 910 was converted into a liberal plurality of 232, the conservatives having made the war an issue and their candidate being a military officer.

To General Methuen, it appears, belongs the honor of the first real British victory of the present war, as Belmont was the first battle after which the British advanced instead of retreating.

The fact that General Methuen was forced to fight a second pitched battle near the scene of the first shows the Boers were not demoralized at Belmont, but quickly rallied and, with unabated courage, met the splendid assault of the British naval brigade at Gras Pan.

The excellent military qualities displayed by the Boers in these two fights were no doubt partially derived from the training of Commandant Albrecht, a former officer of the Austrian army.

Presumably General Methuen has already resumed his march northward.

He was, when last heard from, still nearly fifty miles from Kimberley and doubtless an action will have to be fought at Modder river before "Diamondopolis" is relieved.

There is some doubt as to what is meant in the statement that the Boers are falling back on Warrenton, which is fifty miles north of Kimberley, unless the dispatch was intended to fall into British hands in the hope of misleading General Methuen. The latter, however, is said to be far too cautious to be caught by such a trick and, it is added, it can be confidently anticipated that his column will sweep steadily forward in spite of the determined resistence he will meet with.

The conclusion must be accepted, however, reluctantly, that the Boers are deliberate in their misuse of white flags. On top of General Methuen's warning and other evidence comes the statement of Correspondent Knight, who has arrived at Cape Town, wounded. He says he accompanied a detachment of the Northampton regiment when a force of Boers, 3,000 yards distance, and surrounded, displayed a white flag.

The officer commanding the Northamptons then ordered his men to rise, when the Boers deliberately volleyed, wounding Knight and others.

The whole situation has been instinctly cleared since the arrival of General Buller in Natal, though, doubtless, the British will have many difficulties to overcome.

Before General White is released, a big battle is likely to occur at the passage of the Tugela river, and it may be expected that the Boers will make a stand there. In any case, wherever they elect to try to stem the British advance there will be desperate fighting and of a sanguinary character.

The outlook in Cape Colony is blue for the British. That General Catacre has no easy task is proved by the late dispatches from Queenstown showing that a majority of the population in the frontier have openly declared themselves on the side of the Boers. Bands of Boers are doing immense damage over a wide area and they have now appeared south of Stormburg.

BOERS RETIRE ON WEENEN.

London, Nov. 27.—The colonial office has received the following dispatch from the governor of Natal, dated Pietermaritzburg, Sunday, Nov. 26th:

"The Boers are retiring on Weenen. Our troops are occupying a ridge three miles northward of the Mooi river. Boers have found our positions too strong and are retiring towards Ladysmith with the loot they have collected. The river is in flood. General Buller arrived. Telegraphic communication with Estcourt was restored early this morning."

DISPATCH FROM BULLER.

London, Nov. 27.—The war office has received the following dispatch from General Buller, dated Pietermaritzburg, Sunday, Nov. 26:

"Hildyard, from Estcourt, made a successful attack November 23, with three battalions, one field battery, a naval gun and 700 mounted troops, on the enemy occupying Beacon Hill, which dominates William Grange and had interrupted his communication. As a result of the operations the enemy is retiring and the railway and telegraph lines have been restored between Estcourt and Weston. Our loss was about fourteen killed and fifty wounded.

"Hildyard has advanced to a position near Frere, as he hopes to cut off the enemy, who is believed to be retiring on Colenso, via Weenen.

"Barton, from Weston, has advanced to Estcourt.

"As soon as communication is restored I will telegraph particulars. So far as I can make out, the operation is one for which Hildyard and the troops deserve much credit. The railway is now open to Frere."

IN A STATE OF WAR.

Washington, Nov. 27.—The British ambassador, Lord Pauncefote, has informed the secretary of state that in view of a doubt which appeared to exist whether her majesty's government recognized that the hostilities now in course of progress in South Africa constitute a state of war between Great Britain and the two South African republics, he has been directed by the marquis of Salisbury to inform the secretary of state, as an act of courtesy, that the South African Republic and the Orange Free State having declared war against her majesty the queen, and having invaded the British colonies of the Cape and Natal, a state of war has actually existed since the 11th of October between England and the South African Republic and the Orange Free State.

This notice appears to be couched in similar terms to those addressed by the British government to the governments of continental Europe.

It will probably not affect the United States, except to enable the government to deal vigorously with any persons who attempt to recruit in the United States for either of the parties to the war, Boer or Britain.

Nothing has been heard from Mr. Macrum recently respecting the measure of success attending his efforts to care for the British interests in the two Dutch republics which were confided to him.

HILDYARD'S LOSSES.

Durban, Natal, Nov. 26.—The latest reports of General Hildyard's losses at the Beacon Hill engagement show that fifteen men were killed and seventy-two wounded.

The West Yorkshire regiment suffered heavily. Major Hobbs was captured and several men are missing.

Dispatches from President Kruger and General Joubert found on a Boer prisoner say the Boer losses at Belmont were ten killed and forty wounded.

It added, in order to reassure the burghers, that it had been deemed necessary to fall back on Warenton.

A pigeon message from Colonels Hamilton and Duff at Ladysmith, undated, reports all well.

Another naval contingent from the British first class cruiser Terrible, with two 4.7 inch guns, started for the front tonight.

Lightning killed 500 birds in County Monaghan, Ireland.

SUNDAY RACKETS.

TEN AFFIDAVITS RESULT AND MORE TO FOLLOW.

HURLED CINDERS IN WINDOW

TROUBLE AT JEFFERSON TOLER'S SALOON.

YOUNG MEN ATTACK SYRIANS

BEVISCH CAME BACK TO THE POLICE STATION.

Ten affidavits were filed before Acting Police Judge Huser this morning, all the result of scraps on Sunday. Two young men, who gave fictitious names of John Smith and Patrick Casey, were arrested for drunkenness by Officers Rohrer and Borgman. The young men were visitors at Jefferson Toler's saloon, corner of Calhoun and Superior streets. About 1 o'clock this morning they were put out of the saloon and in revenge one of the young men hurled a two-pound cinder through a window. The police gave chase and the watchman at the Fort Wayne Iron works fired a shot and brought the young fellows to a halt. They told their stories to Justice Huser this morning and were fined $1 and costs for drunkenness. They made arrangements to pay the fines and were allowed to go to their work, both having good jobs. An affidavit for malicious trespass was also filed against the young men, and as a result of their testimony Jefferson Toler, the saloonkeeper, must answer to an affidavit charging him with selling liquor at proscribed hours.

Sunday afternoon, while Habeeb Farah and another Syrian were riding a bicycle on Lafayette street, between Main and Columbia, six young bloods, who appeared to have been drinking, attacked them "just to have some fun." The Syrians were game and, reinforced by some of their friends, there was a hot time for a few minutes. The police were telephoned for and Officers Romy and Madden hurried from the station to the scene of the fight, but the "scrappers" were gone when they arrived. This morning Habeeb Farah swore to six affidavits before Acting Mayor Huser. Charles Swain, Joe Stevens, Harry Stevens, Allen, first name unknown, and Schubert, first name unknown, are charged with assault and battery, and William Seidel is charged with provoke, it being alleged that he urged the young Americans to attack the Syrians.

TWO ROBBERIES.

Thieves cut out a pane of glass at Singrey's grocery Saturday night and were able to reach in and unlock the door. They robbed the money drawer of about $8. The same evening the east end grocery store of Councilman C. H. Buhr was also entered, but it is not known that anything was stolen. Detective Coling is hunting for a clue to the thieves.

THE FIRST CASE.

James Skelton was arrested during the fire at the Aldine Sunday morning by Officer Blum, who charged him with violating the city ordinance which prohibits a citizen from intruding inside certain limits fixed by the fire chief during a fire. The officer claimed that he ordered Skelton away and he went away and then came back and was arrested. The young man asserted that the officer did not point out to him the fire limits. 'Squire Huser assessed a fine of $1 and costs.

TWO ARRESTS.

"Sugar" Allen and Gustave Schubert, two of the young fellows implicated in the assault on the Syrians, were arrested by Lieutenant Lapp and Officer Knock this afternoon. The officers learned during their investigation that Joe and Harry Stevens were not participants in the fight and the affidavits against them will be withdrawn.

NOTES.

As predicted in the Sentinel Saturday, John Bevisch, the persistent vagabond, did come back to the city. About 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon he walked into the police station and there was consternation among the officers. He didn't stay long and when the Nickel Plate train left for the east shortly after 3 o'clock Bevisch was aboard with a ticket which carried him to another city where he hopes to get along without working. Bevisch didn't pay for the ticket either.

A. Schellhammer, who reported that his horse was missing Saturday, found the animal wandering about the city Sunday.

William Seidel reported to the police Saturday that his horse was missing. He left it in front of his residence and a few minutes later the animal was gone. Sunday the officers located the horse seven miles in the country and returned it to Mr. Seidel.

Superintendent Gorsline is in receipt of a letter from Dr. H. G. Davis, of Monroe Center, Ill., thanking him for his assistance in identifying the suicide, A. L. Wilson, whose body has been claimed by the brother, Dr. J. H. Wilson, and shipped to Bellefontaine for interment. He compliments the Fort Wayne police and says Fort Wayne should be proud of its officers.

The police were beaten in the case against Mary Pfeifel, who was charged with conducting a house of ill fame. A jury heard the evidence Saturday in 'Squire Ray-Louser's Washington township court. After deliberating the bigger part of Saturday night the jury returned a verdict of acquittal.

A farmer's wagon broke down on West Main street Saturday, and while he was after another wagon to tow away the broken vehicle some miscreants had broken the wreck to pieces. Officer Pappart located the guilty parties and they settled with the farmer to avoid prosecution.

A. W. Clark and J. C. Jahn report to the police that valuable hunting dogs owned by them have been stolen.

CLEARED THE COURT ROOM

ATTORNEYS DIDN'T CARE TO TAKE THE CHANCE.

Dr. Adams Tells That He Isn't Exposed to Smallpox—The Furniture—Notes.

There was an unusual scene in the superior court room this morning. Dr. Adams, of Maysville, had been subpoenaed as a witness in a case set for trial today, but as Wilmer Leonard, one of the attorneys, could not be present, Elmer Leonard asked for a continuance. Among other reasons he suggested that Dr. Adams, one of the witnesses, who was then in the court room, was attending to the smallpox cases in Scipio township. There was a general movement towards the door, when Dr. Adams asked to explain. Judge Vesey granted permission and Dr. Adams said: "I have not seen the patients for three or four days," and at this point Henry Colerick and John Morris, Jr., shot out of the court room. The doctor continued: "I am very careful after visiting the patients, keep my office disinfected, change my clothing after each visit and take a thorough soap bath. We have smallpox down there, but I am very careful not to spread it." By the time the doctor had finished his statement Judge Vesey and he were alone in the court room and the judge did not hesitate to grant the continuance.

WILL AWARD CONTRACT.

Tomorrow afternoon is the time set by the county commissioners to award the contracts for furniture for the new court house. The lowest bids are offered by Jerome Herff & Co., on steel furniture and the Woelleger Manufacturing company, of Milwaukee, on wood furniture. It is generally admitted that the commissioners will award the contract to the lowest bidders. They have given ample bond that the work will be done according to plans and specifications submitted by Architect Tolan and the commissioners will not overlook a saving of almost $8,000 to the taxpayers, when their architect can accept or reject the work when completed. Most of the bidders have representatives here, hoping that something may happen that one of the higher bids will win.

DROVE A HORSE TO DEATH.

Samuel Drury, of New Haven, was arrested Sunday evening on a charge of driving Benjamin Pickett's horse until it died. Drury borrowed the horse Friday evening and went for a drive with his wife. When he came back to New Haven the animal was in bad shape and in a little while died. He will have a hearing before 'Squire France.

NOTES.

The will of the late Anna E. Deardorff has been filed for probate.

Judge Vesey has appointed Samuel L. Morris special judge to try the case of Catherine C. Koch vs. the Allen County Loan and Savings association, the regular judge having been of counsel in the suit.

HELD FOR MURDER

THREE ANTWERP YOUNG MEN NOW IN JAIL.

TRACKED BY BLOOD HOUNDS

CHARGED WITH MURDER OF A HICKSVILLE OFFICER.

A MOST REVOLTING CRIME

ACCUSED BOYS THREATENED WITH LYNCHING.

[Special to The Sentinel.]

Auburn, Ind., Nov. 27.—Saturday morning, at 1 o'clock, Enos Rath, deputy marshal and private night watch at Hicksville, Ohio, was pounded to death while at his post of duty on the main street of that city.

He encountered three young men leaning up against a fence and going up to them demanded their business. Two immediately flashed revolvers in his face while the third struck him from behind, crushing his skull. He attempted to draw and use his revolver, but was struck over the hand and his fingers broken, his weapon falling to the walk, where it was afterwards found. Breaking away from his assaulters he fled into the yard of William Bricker and called for help. The thugs then followed and assaulted him again. One held his legs while the two others pounded him. When left alone he attempted to cross the yard and called for help, when the three men returned and assaulted him for the third time.

By this time his cries had aroused several neighbors and the brutal crime was witnessed through several windows. At the third assault Mrs. Charles Wires, against the protest of her husband, leaped out on the porch and screamed for help. The murderers then fled.

Soon an excited crowd had gathered and the wounded officer was taken to the Swilley hotel and confirmed the story related by Mrs. Wires. The officer washed the blood from his face and sat down in a chair, where he died a few moments later.

Telegrams were sent to Oakwood, Ohio, and a pack of trained blood hounds were on the scene in a few hours. They tracked the parties through wood yards and back lots to where they had taken a rig.

At about the same time word came from Antwerp, Ohio, of the suspicious action of three young men of that place, their names being Ed. Johnson, Floyd Rumbaugh and Frank Zuber.

These boys had visited Hicksville, a few evenings previous, having some rough characterized females with them and were all driven from the town by the officer. They had sworn to come back and "do" the officer. The sheriff, who had come upon the scene, had heard of these facts and he loaded up the hounds and drove to Antwerp. When put down upon the floor where the young men had alighted, the hounds were greatly excited and soon run the men to their homes and hiding places.

They were taken in charge by the sheriff and taken to Hicksville Sunday morning, and as there was great excitement and talk of lynching, they were hurried off to Defiance on a freight train and landed in jail.

The murdered officer has been a faithful one and was formerly on the police force at Defiance, Ohio. He leaves a wife, son and daughter. Public opinion is at a fever heat and citizens threaten to make a sweeping clean up of local and foreign suspicious characters.

MINISTER WEDS A MEDIUM.

Muncie, Ind., Nov. 27—Rev. Harry Moore, pastor of the Muncie Spiritualists' association, and Miss Bertha Schoenman, a beautiful test medium of Indianapolis, were married at noon yesterday at the latter city. Four hundred guests were present when Dr. W. M. Lockwood, of Chicago, performed the ceremony. After a reception at the bride's home, the couple came to Muncie and conducted services last night before a very large audience. A jubilee week has been arranged by the congregation in honor of the bride and groom, who will be in charge each evening.

Queen Esther Sewing society will meet at the home of Mrs. Joseph Kickley, 100 Baker street, Tuesday afternoon and elect officers for the ensuing year.

The Wonder Worker.

THE BOY PHENOMENON STANDS PEERLESS AND ALONE AS THE GREATEST MAGNETIC HEALER OF MODERN TIMES.

CHRONIC DISEASES DAILY CURED WHICH HAVE ALWAYS BEEN REGARDED AS INCURABLE—COMING FROM MILES AROUND TO BE HEALED BY THE BOY PHENOMENON, WHO WILL BE AT THE RANDALL HOTEL TWO WEEKS LONGER.

It is astonishing how good news will spread. From every ward and street come reports of people talking about the wonderful cures being performed by the Boy Phenomenon. Truth, genuine merit, skill, a wonderful gift of healing and honorable methods are sure to receive their just reward, and it is upon and along these lines that he has secured the confidence of the public. So many cures have been accomplished that it is next to impossible to investigate them all, but a few will be given publicity each day for the benefit of the afflicted who are desirous of investigating some cure before undergoing treatment.

When anything that promises relief is offered you, the first thing you want to know is if it ever cured anyone else and, what is more important, if they STAYED cured, and the amount of faith you will have in trying it will depend upon the reliability of the testimony offered in its behalf. When this is from remote strangers away beyond the reach of your consultation, doubts are sure to arise, but when it comes from disinterested people whom you know as your citizens and neighbors and can consult at any time, its reliability is apparent—its truth not to be doubted.

The wonderful recovery of Mr. Paul Bauman, of 54 Spy Run avenue. Everyone in Fort Wayne knows Paul, as he is one of the heroes of the Spanish war, and contracted the rheumatism in the camps of the south. His cure was so wonderful that it even surprised the physician in charge. His simple statement is contained in a letter to the Boy, expressing his heartfelt gratitude for the great benefit he derived:

THE BOY WONDER:

I wish to express my heartfelt thanks and everlasting gratitude for what you have done for me. The results of your treatment have surprised all who knew of my condition. The rheumatism I got while in camp two years ago had so stiffened my joints that I could not do any work. The painful agony extended all over my body, but was worse in the right sciatic nerve. I had been given up as incurable by all other methods, but I have not had a pain nor used my cane since you treated me. Thanking you again, I remain,

Respectfully,

PAUL BAUMAN.

G. H. KRUDOP,

NEW RELIEF LAW

IS EXPLAINED BY ALEXANDER JOHNSON.

UNION CHARITIES MEETING

AT BAPTIST TABERNACLE SUNDAY AFTERNOON.

MUCH GOOD WORK IS DONE

ANNUAL MEETING TO BE HELD IN JANUARY.

The union charity meeting at the Baptist tabernacle Sunday afternoon under the auspices of the Associated Charities was largely attended, and proved a most interesting and helpful gathering to those who are interested in relief work in this city. E. F. Yarnelle presided, and the music was rendered by the Baptist choir.

The leading feature of the gathering was an address upon the new township poor relief law by Alexander Johnson. Mr. Johnson was one of the framers of the new enactment and he explained its workings and its advantages. In part Mr. Johnson said:

MR. JOHNSON'S ADDRESS.

"During the last few years, beginning in 1889, there has been a notable series of new laws enacted in Indiana. These have all been based on scientific theories, at the same time, they have been made very practical. Take, for instance, the Board of Children's Guardian law, and other new laws for the care of dependent children. These have been based on the principles of prevention rather than cure of evil, and the establishment of natural relations. Take the Board of State Charities law, and the more recent law for county boards of charities. These have been based on the theory that the public servants need the public eye upon them, and that unpaid service rendered by patriotic and public spirited people is sometimes the best. So with the new laws governing our prisons, hospitals for the insane and other institutions; these have all been based upon well known and well tested principles of economic science.

"This course, so likely to be beneficial, was particularly well marked in the reform legislation of last winter. The new laws for the government of counties and townships were prepared by a large committee who called to their aid men who had not only studied the principles of government, but who had carefully examined plans adopted in other states, which had met with success or with failure. The law regulating poor relief by the township trustee was very carefully based upon what are known as the principles of scientific charity. These principles have been adopted in nearly every large city in the country as the proper ones to govern the work of caring for the poor. They have been found successful; they aim to prevent pauperism; to help the poor to help themselves; to keep up the natural relations of life, so that friends able to help friends in distress should be called upon to do so; that those in distress able to labor should be urged and helped to find work; that those administering relief should have some one to whom they might report and who should exercise a certain check upon their work; that business methods of careful knowledge and accurate record should be the rule in all cases; that people working to a common end should work in harmony and not at cross purposes. These are the fundamentals of scientific charity, and these are principles upon which the new law was drafted.

"Further considerations than those of the scientific principles of charity governed the work of the committee in drafting the law. The most important of these considerations were those based upon the actual work of the 1,100 townships in Indiana in caring for the poor as shown by the records in the office of the Board of State Charities. These records are very interesting. They show a striking degree of variation in the number of people relieved, and the amount of money spent in different townships from which some useful conclusions may readily be drawn. For example, the amount of tax levy for relief purposes in two different townships of this state where all external circumstances were apparently about the same, was in one case 1-3 of a cent and in the other case 1-3 of a dollar on the $100 valuation. In different townships the number of persons relieved has varied from one in every eight of the population to one in 250 of the population. In two counties side by side, inhabited by similar people, with no reason that could be assigned for any great difference, the number of persons relieved has been in the one county 1 in every 13 of the population, and in the next one 1 in 48 of the population. Between the townships of one county all having very similar circumstances, the number of persons relieved has varied from 1 in 16 of the population to 1 in 152. These and many similar facts have forced the conclusion that the cause of the varying amount of relief distributed in any given township has not been the conditions of the people, the pressure of population, the presence or absence of large cities, the habits of life, the amount of real poverty, although all these have had some share in determining the amount of relief. But the real cause in producing the result has been the businesslike or unbusinesslike administration of the township trustees' office.

"One further set of considerations I must mention. These were based upon what had actually been done by certain township trustees who were instructed, public-spirited as well as charitable. It has been found entirely practicable to apply the principles mentioned above as being those of scientific charity to the work of the township trustees' office. Trustees have found it possible to cooperate with other benevolent people, to make thorough investigations, to urge those able to work to find employment, and sometimes to help them to do so, to refuse aid to able-bodied traveling mendicants, and by these and many other means to reduce the amount of pauperism, with its consequent vice, in their townships.

"Now the committee who drafted this bill used these three sets of considerations in their work, and the result has been the most advanced legislation on the subject in the United States. No other charity law so thoroughly carries out the great principles of economic science which we are learning to regard as safeguards for the people.

"One strange misunderstanding seems to have frequently occurred. Why it should have arisen is hard to see, for the language of the act seems plain enough. It has been supposed that the act limits the township trustee to a certain definite amount in any given case and that in no case could this be exceeded. The law distinctly states that when a trustee has given one case $15 in money, or when the relief has extended over a period of three months, he shall report the case, with full particulars, to the board of county commissioners. If they approve his action he shall continue relieving the case until he has again expended $15 or again carried it over a period of three months, and so on, just as long as he can secure the approval of the commissioners. Under this law in a county where the commissioners meet monthly, it would be possible for a trustee to relieve one case to the extent of $180 per annum, provided the commissioners approved, but it is rare indeed that a trustee desires to give a case more than $15 a quarter, and this he can do where the commissioners meet only quarterly. This provision of the law was intended to avoid the numerous unworthy pension cases which have been carried along by many trustees, while it made it possible for a really worthy case to be assisted quite liberally and carried along if necessary from year to year, provided the commissioners agreed with the trustee that this is the best method of aiding that particular case.

"The bane of pauper legislation has always and everywhere been the legislating for extreme cases. Our laws should be made to meet the average case, and the extreme cases should be left to that never-failing source of relief, the human sentiments of the people. Otherwise numerous cases will be classed as extreme when they really ought not to be so classed. Public relief should be limited very strictly or it will be abused.

"There have been some doleful predictions made that the new law would crowd the county poor asylum. Only a misunderstanding of the law could lead to such a notion. It will be seen from what I have said above that it is very easy for the county commissioners to prevent any overcrowding by a simple agreement with the township trustee. But without this agreement there is no danger of the asylum being overcrowded because of the diminishing of outdoor relief. If such a thing should follow, it would be the first time in the history of charity that it has occurred. Numerous experiments have been made, many of them on a wholesale scale, where outdoor relief has been cut off entirely, but it has never affected the poor-house population. The experience of Brooklyn, New York, Philadelphia and many other eastern cities might be cited. In the west, both Chicago and Cincinnati have cut off outdoor relief temporarily without notice and under very aggravated circumstances, yet in no case was there a rush to the poor house. But if there should be extreme cases which require help beyond what the trustee can give under this law, there is no danger that the benevolent hearts of our people will allow anybody to die of starvation. It is better for all of us that we should remember we have a duty to our suffering brothers, a duty which is not discharged when we simply turn them over to the overseer of the poor for outdoor relief."

CONSTITUTION AMENDED.

The constitution of the Associated Charities was then by vote amended so that the annual meeting of the society for the election of members of the executive committee shall be held on the second Monday in January, at which time five members shall be elected to serve for a term of three years each.

Secretary Mohler gave a brief talk concerning the workings of the society and stated that there are now on the records about 1,700 families who have either applied for help, been helped or are being helped by some of the relief societies and churches who co-operate with the associated body. These records are of value in bestowing relief where it is most needed. Mr. Mohler spoke of the splendid work being done by some of these organizations and commended them highly.

Mrs. A. D. Guild commended the work of the association as better than indiscriminate charity, as it insured the benefits going to the deserving poor instead of being an indiscriminate aid to all who ask for it. The association is in good condition and will begin the new year free from indebtedness.

THE DEATHS.

THOMPSON.

After an illness of four weeks J. Edward Thompson died Sunday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs George W. Thompson, 246 East Lewis street, at the age of nineteen years. Death was due to kidney trouble. The young man was bright and industrious, a student at the International Business college, and had a future of much promise before him.

The funeral services will be held from the residence Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Dr. Wagenhals officiating.

SPADE.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oswin O. Spade, of 328 West Main street, died Sunday from convulsions, at the age of one day. The funeral services were held this morning.

STIRLING.

Irene Frances Stirling, an inmate of the school for feeble minded, died Sunday morning from tuberculosis, at the age of fourteen years. The funeral services were held today.

PALMER.

Mrs. Jane Palmer died at noon today at the home of her son-in-law, Edward Parisot, 74 Lasalle street, after an extended illness. Mrs. Palmer was 60 years of age and has lived in the city about six years. Her husband died about four years ago. Several children survive. The family resided for many years on a farm near Arcola.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

TO SELL NEW AVELINE.

The New Aveline house was to have been sold at administrator's sale this afternoon. T. B. Shonff, who holds the first mortgage, is in the city and is expected to offer the only bid. If the bids offered do not reach the amount of the first mortgage, the sale will be postponed until tomorrow. The Madison Square bank of New York holds a second mortgage and attorneys are here as representatives of the bank, but will offer no bid in excess of the first mortgage.

HAS A RARE PRIZE.

C. H. Currier, the well known Western Union operator, is the possessor of two rare old books valued at $130. They are Harriet Martineau's "Society in America," and were published in 1837. At a recent auction sale of old volumes in Chicago copies of this work brought the high figure named, and the item caught Mr. Currier's attention. He recalled that he had a set of the books, and on examination found them in good condition. He will place the books on sale, and it is pretty certain Mr. Currier has a prize.

THANKSGIVING DINNER.

The Thanksgiving dinner at the Grace Reformed church promises to surpass former annual efforts and that is a large claim to make. The several committees in charge of preparations and those who will direct serving of the dinner have worked diligently and to good purpose. The dinner will be served from 12 to 3 p. m., Thursday. Following is the menu:

Turkey, Cranberry Sauce,
Potatoes,
Chicken, Scalloped Oysters,
Corn, Slaw, Celery,
Mince and Apple Pie,
Plum Pudding, Fruit,
Bread, Butter, Jelly,
Coffee, Tea.

A progressive pedro party was given Saturday evening at the home of Miss Alma Angst, of Madison street. The party was delightfully entertained by the Crystal Mandolin club. Miss Blanche Amor and Martin Wright won the first prize and Miss Mary Ryan and Christ. Bicknese the booby.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

The annual institute of Allen county farmers will be held in this city January 12 and 13, and at a meeting held Saturday afternoon at the city hall the general committee completed arrangements for an excellent program. There will be addresses by Hon. Cal Husselman, of Auburn; Mrs. Florence Ross, of Southport, and numerous talks on timely topics by local farmers. There will be splendid music at the sessions, and the chairman and secretary were directed to complete the program and arrange all further details. During the summer the president of the county institute, Alexander Johnson, has visited every township institute, and much interest has been shown in the coming county gathering. At the meeting of the general committee on Saturday the townships were represented as follows: Adams, Charles Piepenbrink; Aboite, W. Z. Clarke; Eel River, Wesley Johnson; Jackson, G. W. Meyers and J. D. Carpenter; Lake, Levi Binkley and John Valentine; Marion, Marion Smith and wife; Pleasant, Marion Ake; St. Joseph, J. E. Reichelderfer; Washington, Mrs. W. F. Devilbiss, George Thumm and Alexander Johnson.

WEDDED ON SUNDAY.

Mrs. Mary Johnson and Charles Bradtmiller were united in marriage Sunday afternoon at the parsonage of St. John's Reformed church by Rev. J. H. Bosch, in the presence of a few immediate relatives. The bride is a niece of Conrad Neireiter, the well-known insurance agent. The marriage was a complete surprise to the many friends of the contracting parties.

DAMAGED BY FIRE.

The Aldine block, on East Berry street, was damaged to the extent of about $1,000 by fire early Sunday morning, and a serious conflagration was averted only by the prompt work of the fire laddies. Volumes of smoke were issuing from the building when the department arrived, and it was some little time before the fire could be found. It was discovered at last under some flooring and was extinguished without much difficulty. The Schmidt tailor shop and the Aldine restaurant are the principal losers. Several roomers in the upper floors became frightened and ran to the street in their night clothes and several children were carried out.

The damage to the Schmidt tailoring establishment was caused chiefly by smoke, and the loss to Mr. Schmidt will be about $600, covered by insurance. The fire originated on the first floor of the restaurant and was caused by an over heated furnace.

GIRLS GO BACK TO WORK

PENDING ADJUSTMENT OF A PRICE SCHEDULE.

Many of the girls who went out on a strike at Foster's shirt waist factory Saturday resumed work this afternoon, pending an adjustment of the scale of prices to be paid for making the new style garments for next season's wear. Mr. Foster says a scale of prices for this work has not yet been made, but that it will be posted in a day or two, and he believes it will be entirely satisfactory. If it is not acceptable to the operatives, they will meet the proprietor and consider the matter.

The walk-out Saturday occurred with hardly a warning, and in a few minutes nearly two hundred girls employed on the bodies of the garments had folded up their work, donned their wraps and left the building. The cause of the walk-out was dissatisfaction at the prices for the new patterns of garments for the season of 1900, work on which has just been commenced. The scale varies each year with the character of the garments made, and is governed by the amount of work required on each style. Two of the young ladies called at The Sentinel office and stated that a committee had waited on Mr. Foster Saturday and that he declined to give them satisfaction. They then requested him to go before them in a body, but this he declined to do, but finally stated that all who did not return to work by a certain hour would be understood as surrendering their machines. Nearly all the two hundred girls in the department left the building. Those in the collar and cuff department had no grievance and continued at work.

This morning the girls sent a committee to see Mr. Foster, and the result was the understanding by which work is to go on until a schedule of prices is arranged for the work.

Mr. Foster believes the strike occurred from a misunderstanding of his position, and says a strike is not necessary to get right prices in his establishment. He says there is no disposition to reduce prices, and is confident when the scale is fixed there will be no dissatisfaction with it. "It is not always possible," said he, "to fix the right price until the girls have become accustomed to the work. Quite frequently we find a garment more tedious to make than we anticipated, and in that case the matter is brought to my attention, and it has always been easy to fix a satisfactory price."

Mr. Foster says a few of the girls went to work this morning, and a larger number this afternoon. No attempt to fill their places will be made until all who desire to return to work have an opportunity to do so.

Tom, the eight year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Horton, of East Williams street, fell and fractured his wrist Saturday.

E. J. Hathorne is in the city visiting friends. Mr. Hathorne has just recovered from a severe illness with pneumonia and has arranged to spend the winter in Colorado, where he hopes to fully recuperate his health.

Little Pimples Turn to Cancer.

Cancer often results from an impurity in the blood, inherited from generations back. Few people are entirely free from some taint in the blood, and it is impossible to tell when it will break out in the form of dreaded Cancer. What has appeared to be a mere pimple or scratch has developed into the most malignant Cancer.

"I had a severe Cancer which was at first only a few blotches, that I thought would soon pass away. I was treated by several able physicians, but in spite of their efforts the Cancer spread until my condition became alarming. After many months of treatment and growing steadily worse, I decided to try S. S. S. which was so strongly recommended. The first bottle produced an improvement. I continued the medicine, and in four months the last little scab dropped off. Ten years have elapsed, and not a sign of the disease has returned."
R. F. WILLIAMS,
Gillsburg, Miss.

It is dangerous to experiment with Cancer. The disease is beyond the skill of physicians. S. S. S. is the only cure, because it is the only remedy which goes deep enough to reach Cancer.

CELERY KING NATURE'S CURE

Beautiful Complexions

Come from pure, untainted blood. No complexion can be muddy, mottled or sallow if the blood is pure; no complexion can be clear of blemishes if the blood is not pure. More than this; disease cannot exist in a body supplied with pure blood. This is the secret of the success of Celery King. It makes pure blood.

Governor Brady, of Alaska, in his annual report, asks that the territory be granted statehood. It is doubtless merely a coincidence that in the same reports he asks for $110,500 for a penitentiary.

Many of the newspapers make much of the news that at the last fleeting glimpse had of the hurrying Aguinaldo he was seen to be without a hat. This may account for his recent long and unusual silence, but is not otherwise important.

The appointment of a receiver in bankruptcy of the earl of Yarmouth on application of a London hosier recalls the fact that when the nobleman first appeared as a member of the company playing "Make Way for the Ladies," the critics discoursed principally on the number and brilliancy of the socks he wore.

The unanimity of the press and people in Santiago for the appointment of General Wood as governor general of Cuba is an important indication. From the time of the ten years' war Santiago was the heart of the insurrection and it has more of the Cuban fighters than any other province of Cuba. All these men know what Wood's administration has done there, and they are heartily in favor of his promotion to the place where he can do the same work for all Cuba. That is very nearly a conclusive test, always provided that politics have lost their pull at Washington.

The rubber tires for vehicles which a few years ago promised to become popular and seemed destined to general use, have so far proved a failure. They are very expensive, possess little durability and must soon be replaced. On streets that are well paved an iron tire gives perfect comfort and on unpaved streets no sort of a tire is protection.

The police court this morning was further notice to Mayor Scherer that his Sunday policy is a disgrace to the city and to his administration. The fact that the mayor is out of town for a few weeks does not lift responsibility from his shoulders. It simply demonstrates that things go on the same old way when he is absent as when he is on hand to run matters in person.

The protest of the president of the New York board of health against allowing the landing of the cargo of coffee brought to this country by the ship which has the bubonic plague on it will be widely endorsed. Perhaps the coffee is not infected, but if any enterprising firm should advertise the sale of "bubonic coffee" it would hardly be worked to death by the rush of orders.

EXPRESS TRAIN SPEED AT SEA.

It is evident that the highest limit of speed for ocean going steamers has not been reached. At the recent trial trip of the British torpedo boat destroyer Viper, a vessel of 325 tons, with engines capable of developing between 10,000 and 12,000 horse power, a speed of thirty-seven knots was attained, or two knots above contract requirement. She was built by the Parsons Steam company, of Wollsend, and is the first war vessel to be fitted with the new system of steam turbine engines.

The experimental trip of the Viper indicates a possible future steamer that will travel at express train speed, its builders having offered to build a boat on the same plan to steam at the rate of forty-four knots or upwards, or fifty miles an hour. The two present obstacles to this high rate of speed consists in the difficulty of keeping the decks clear of water, the Viper in its trial trip having been submerged time and again, wetting all on board to the skin, and the enormous coal space that will be required. It is one thing to carry coal enough for a run of one or a few hours and quite another to find storage room for enough to keep up a fifty-mile speed for a trip from New York to Liverpool.

It is evident, however, from the success of the Viper's trial trip that a voyage across the Atlantic within three days is among the possibilities of the future, and it is this possibility that is of the highest importance to the public. That it will relegate the most modern of warships to the canal boat class so far as comparative speed is concerned is probable, but the world at large has a far greater interest in commerce than in war. Naval officers will be deeply interested in experiments tending to show a possible speed for torpedo boats and torpedo boat destroyers of forty or fifty miles an hour, but the great mass of peaceably disposed humanity will be more interested in an increase of steamer speed, which will make a voyage to Europe and return, with a week for sight-seeing, possible within the ordinary two weeks' vacation.

IS BEFORE BOARD OF WORKS

MORE THAN 13,000 LOTS ARE TO BE ASSESSED.

GAS ORDINANCE PREPARED

THE CITY COUNCIL WILL MEET TUESDAY NIGHT.

City Engineer Randall finished the resolution for the intercepting sewer this morning and it will be acted upon by the board of works before adjournment this afternoon. The resolution provides for the assessment of all property benefit within the corporate limits of the city south of the Maumee and St. Mary's rivers, the New York, Chicago and St. Louis railway and feeder canal, north to the St. Mary's river. This means that all property within the city limits except the Ninth ward and Lakeside will be assessed. Within the boundaries named in the resolution it is estimated that there are not less than 13,000 lots. If the assessments are made equal against each lot it is estimated that less than $10 each will pay for the interceptor. But the property to be drained by the South Wayne sewer will get a double dose when assessments are made. This sewer will cost more than the interceptor and assessment can be made only against such property as drains directly into it. Therefore, the residents of the territory affected by the South Wayne sewer will be compelled to settle for two sewers, and their assessment on the South Wayne sewer will be two or three times as large as on the interceptor, into which the South Wayne sewer will empty. In fixing assessments the board will meet one of the hardest propositions yet confronted. It is contended that it would be unfair to assess a fifty-foot lot in the outskirts as much as a fifty-foot lot down town and the board is trying to find some way to equalize the assessment.

The test being made of the subsoil along the route of the interceptor leads the city officials to believe that the cost will not reach the big sum anticipated by some. The board's real trouble will commence after the passage of the resolution.

THE GAS ORDINANCE.

The next important question with which the city council must grapple is the gas ordinance. There has been much discussion of the subject and some action taken, but inasmuch as the franchise of the Salimonie Gas company did not provide for a revision of rates until January next the discussion was dropped until that date. The councilmen have been deliberating as to the best course to pursue and already W. J. Hosey, of the Second ward, has procured an ordinance which he believes will be satisfactory. It is patterned after the ordinance passed by the Indianapolis council several weeks ago, and provides that when the gas falls below a certain standard a deduction shall be made in the price collected by the company. It will place the minimum pressure for which full rates may be charged at four ounces. If the pressure is between three and four ounces there shall be a 25 per cent. reduction and if the pressure is between two and three ounces there shall be a 50 per cent. reduction. The ordinance will provide that gauges be placed on the main supply lines in all parts of the city, a record shall be made of the pressure and the gauges shall be regularly inspected. When the pressure is low notice must be given to the company and to the public and when bills are settled proper reduction must be made. Councilman Hosey has experimented with a gauge and believes that a true record can be easily kept. There are sections in the ordinance providing for other changes in the gas ordinance, but Mr. Hosey has not a complete draft of the ordinance as he proposes to introduce it in the council. There may be other ordinances introduced and it would not be surprising if the council were several weeks in agreeing on a satisfactory ordinance.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

The regular meeting of the city council will be held tomorrow evening, but no matters of importance are to be discussed unless Councilman Folrson springs a communication or resolution about his investigations of the Fourth street opening. Councilman Clark said this morning that he had hoped to have the street opened within a short time, but recent agitation had created divisions among property owners which might impede progress in the matter.

Crestline (Ohio) News-Democrat: "A News-Democrat man had the pleasure of visiting the studio of Miss Ethelyn B. Kyle at Fort Wayne Ind., last Saturday. We found a veritable art gallery filled with elegant productions from the hands of Miss Kyle. A great number of Crestline people are numbered among Miss Kyle's subjects, to whom she has given excellent satisfaction. Aside from this, she is a very pleasant young lady, who is anxious to put forth any exertion for the benefit of her patrons."

THE ORGAN RECITAL.

The magnificent organ at the Wayne street church has been selected by Mr. Eddy for his recital in this city next Thursday evening. Its beautiful tone and easy action stamps it at once as one of the very best organs in this part of the state. On his European concert tour last season Mr. Eddy was the recipient of much enthusiasm by both press and public. In Turin, the La Stampa is quoted as follows:

"The illustrious American organist, Clarence Eddy, is such an extraordinary player that no one should miss the opportunity of hearing and admiring him. It would be impossible to excel his admirable and prodigious technique displayed in the theme, variations and finale of Thiele, the most complicated difficulties of which he overcame in such a manner as to completely astonish us. But the American organist excels not only in mechanical ability, in the wonderful purity and clearness of his execution, but in the highest qualities of interpretative style. Mr. Eddy displayed such a smoothness of technique and finish of interpretation as showed him to be a truly great artist."

LARGE SUM PLEDGED.

Sunday was another red-letter day in the history of Plymouth Congregational church, this city. Nine years ago, at this season of the year, the first subscription of $3,300 was taken as a part payment for the purchase of a lot for the new church. The debt now resting on the church is $3,335, and yesterday pledges were made amounting to about $2,500 toward meeting this debt. The pastor and trustees are rejoicing and a canvass will be made this week among the rest of the congregation. They feel confident that if the rest of the congregation do even approximately as well as those who responded yesterday, the whole amount will be realized.

HAVE ANOTHER OFFER.

A meeting of the officials of the Third Presbyterian church, at the corner of Calhoun and Holman streets, was held Sunday afternoon to consider an offer for the purchase of the church property, though the officials say the deal has not been completed. It will be remembered that last spring the congregation purchased two lots at Harrison and Taber streets, on which they will erect a new church as soon as their present property is disposed of.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 29,502]

"Two years ago I was a great sufferer from womb trouble and profuse flowing each month, and tumors would form in the womb. I had four tumors in two years. I went through treatment with doctors, but they did me no good, and I thought I would have to resort to morphine.

Another Tumor Removed by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"The doctor said that all that could help me was to have an operation and have the womb removed, but I had heard of Mrs. Pinkham's medicine and decided to try it, and wrote for her advice, and after taking her Vegetable Compound the tumors were expelled and I began to get stronger right along, and am as well as ever before. Can truly say that I would never had gotten well had it not been for Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound." — MARY A. STAHL, WATSONTOWN, PA.

What Mrs. Pinkham's Letter Did.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—After following the directions given in your kind letter for the treatment of leucorrhœa, I can say that I have been entirely cured by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies, and will gladly recommend them to my friends.

"Thanking you for your kindness, I am gratefully yours, A. B. DAVIES, BINGHAMPTON, N. Y."

IS PRINCETON THE CHAMPION?

THE ELEVEN IS BEST OF THE "BIG FOUR,"

But Was Beaten by Columbia and Cornell Won From Columbia—In the West.

The game between Princeton and Yale Saturday probably settles the question as to which is the best of the "Big Four" elevens, but it does not settle which is champion of the east. Yale and Harvard tied and Princeton beat Yale and Pennsylvania, and the Tigers, therefore, are accredited champions. But how about the other elevens? Columbia defeated Princeton 5 to 0 and then Cornell beat Columbia 23 to 0. A week ago the Lafayette, Pa., team beat Cornell, 6 to 5. Cornell still has Pennsylvania to play on Thanksgiving day and should Cornell win the eleven should take rank over the "Big Four," inasmuch as Yale was also one of Cornell's victims, 5 to 0. Harvard, however, is the only eleven not defeated. The Indians scored ten points against the Crimson, but were defeated 22 to 10.

In the west Chicago has the best record, but inasmuch as Wisconsin and Michigan will not meet Stagg's eleven this fall, the championship cannot be determined. Chicago has not lost a game, the nearest the eleven came to defeat being the 5 to 5 game with Pennsylvania. Cornell was beaten by a big score. Yale beat Wisconsin, 5 to 0, and Pennsylvania beat Michigan, 11 to 10. Michigan and Wisconsin will play Thanksgiving day in Chicago, and Chicago will meet the Brown university eleven on the same day. Whichever of Michigan and Wisconsin wins will be ranked alongside Chicago as the best teams in the west.

Purdue's defeat by Northwestern, 29 to 0, puts a darker aspect on the state college's chances for a tie with Notre Dame for the state championship. Indiana university will play Indiana eleven wins Notre Dame, which played a tie with Purdue and beat Indiana, will be champion of the state. If Purdue wins, the state championship will be a tie.

RICH PRIZES FOR CYCLISTS.

New York, Nov. 27.—Amateur and professional cyclists have some rich prizes for which to compete at the coming Paris exposition. Three days will be devoted to determining the championships of the world. The grand prize of the exposition will be open to the world and is at 2,000 metres, or 2,187 yards. It will have prizes aggregating $6,000 and the date will probably be September 8. On the same day there will be run a lap race worth $300, a three-mile handicap for $600, and a tandem race for the same distance for $300. On the second day, September 9, international races will be held for prizes of $1,500. September 10 the grand prize of the exposition for amateurs, valued at $800, will be run in trial heats, and a 100-mile paced race for $2,000 will be the feature. September 12th the semi-finals and finals of the grand prizes of the exposition for amateurs and professionals will be held, and there will be a thirty-one mile race, with pacemakers, for $1,400. September 13 will be international day, with teams of three men from each nation for $1,300. For September 14 and 15 there are carded the "foreigner's prize" at 1,940 yards, heats and finals, for $600, and a twenty-four hour race, paced, for $5,000. The total prize list foots up $55,000.

SERVED WITH LINCOLN.

Santa Barbara, Cal., Nov. 27.—Henry H. Hall is dead at his home in this city. He was assistant treasurer of the United States during Lincoln's administration and signed the first greenbacks issued by the government. He was a native of Blanford, Mass., and was formerly a prominent business man of Boston. He leaves a valuable estate to his daughter.

FATHER M'GLYNN IMPROVED

Newburgh, N. Y., Nov. 27.—Dr. Edward McGlynn, rector of St. Mary's church, who has been ill for several days, is much better today. On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday Dr. McGlynn's condition was somewhat serious. On Friday he began to get better and since then he has steadily improved. His physician says that all danger is now passed.

WANT NO MORE TROOPS.

San Francisco, Nov. 27. A memorial to congress is now being prepared by the citizens' executive committee asking that San Francisco be relieved of the care of regular troops returning from the Philippines. Now that the volunteers of the several states have been received, cared for, assisted in procuring employment and aided in departing, the work of the committee is practically ended. Organization will, however, be maintained until every possible effort is made to induce the federal government to provide for the care and the transportation of all regular troops to the point of enlistment. This may require an act of congress.

VERDICT FOR EXPLOSION.

Wabash, Ind., Nov. 27. The jury in the damage suit of Mrs. Josephine Coate against the Logansport and Wabash Valley Gas company, on trial in the Wabash circuit court for the last ten days, brought in a verdict for $1,600 for the plaintiff. The action was for $5,000 for the destruction of the dwelling of Mrs. Anderson Burns, in this city, by an explosion of gas last February. The building was totally wrecked and Mrs. Burns and an adopted daughter were fatally hurt. It was claimed that the explosion was due to a leak in the company's mains. The defense urged that the leak was in the service pipes in the cellar. Mrs. Coate is a daughter of Mrs. Burns. Another damage suit for $5,000 for the death of the adopted child is pending. Still other suits are expected.

THE PLAY POSTPONED.

Shelbyville, Ind., Nov. 27.—Charles Frohman writes to Charles Major, author of "When Knighthood Was in Flower," saying that the great success of "Barbara Fritchie," as produced by Miss Marlowe, will postpone the "When Knighthood Was in Flower" production until the fall of 1900. Mr. Major was asked if the postponement would not cause him considerable loss. He said: "Mr. Frohman has dealt most liberally with me in regard to the delay and I am entirely satisfied. Miss Marlowe's wonderful success is the well deserved result of her brilliant genius and untiring energy."

INSULT TO VICTORIA.

Paris, Nov. 27.—The anti-English caricatures in connection with the Transvaal war culminated in a grossly obscene drawing insulting Queen Victoria, in La Caricature, entitled, "English Correction," which the police seized today, probably as the outcome of British embassy representations.

TWO FINE SPECIMENS

Of Physical Manhood.

No form of athletic exercise demands such perfect physical condition as prize fighting. Every muscle in the body must be fully developed and supple, and the heart, lungs and stomach must act to perfection.

Whether we endorse prize fighting or not, it is nevertheless interesting to know the manner by which men arrive at such physical perfection.

James Jefferies, the present champion heavy weight of the world, and his gallant opponent, Tom Sharkey, in the greatest pugilistic encounter that has ever taken place, both pursued the same course of training and the first and most important part of this training was to get the stomach in condition, and to keep the digestion absolutely perfect, so that every muscle and nerve would be at its highest capabilities.

This was not done by a secret patent medicine, but both of these great pugilists used a well known natural digestive tablet sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and composed of the digestive ferments which every stomach requires for healthy digestion.

Champion Jefferies says: "Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets prevent acidity, strengthen the stomach and insure perfect digestion. They keep a man in fine physical condition." Signed, James J. Jefferies, champion of the world.

The gallant fighter, Sharkey, says: "Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets remove all discomfort after eating. They rest the stomach and restore it to a healthful condition. I heartily recommend them." Signed, Thos. J. Sharkey.

The advantage of the daily use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is that they keep people well and ward off sickness and are equally valuable to well persons as to the dyspeptics. Another advantage is that these tablets contain no cathartics or poisons of any character, but simply digestive ferments which are found in every healthy stomach, and when digestion is imperfect it is because the stomach lacks some of these elements and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets supply it.

They are no cheap cathartic, but a perfectly safe and efficient digestive and the demand for them is greater than the sale of all other so-called dyspepsia cures combined. No remedy could possibly reach such a place in public esteem except as the result of positive merit.

Full sized packages are sold by all druggists at 50 cents and the best habit you can possibly form is to take a Stuart Tablet after each meal. They make weak stomachs strong and keep strong stomachs vigorous.

Attend City Band Concert at Masonic Temple tomorrow evening.

THE MARKETS.

Chicago, Nov. 27.—The wheat market, it was evident at the opening today, failed to recoup any of its late losses during the cessation of trading Saturday. Initial prices were decidedly lower, December 3¼@⅞c off from Friday's close at 65⅛@65¼c and May ⅜@½c lower at 69¾@69⅞c.

The forced liquidation of December was the paramount influence, although prospects of liberal prices to the visible supply and local stocks and the weakness of Liverpool were factors in causing the losses. The opening was under puts and buying against the privilege was the principal support. December under this impulse and some covering by shorts recovered to 65⅝@65½c and May to 70c. Receipts here for two days were 177 cars, 69 of graded contract.

The balance of trade in wheat, as in corn, oats and provisions, is in favor of the May option. Corn was influenced by the weakness of wheat and lower cables, with better weather, favorable to the movement, something of a factor. December opened 3⅛@3¼c under Friday's close at 31¼@31⅜c and May at 32⅝@32⅝c.

Later in the session the December liquidation became less persistent and the inquiry showed some improvement. There was some investment buying on the strength of the firmness of the Liverpool spot market. The market advanced from opening figures, closing weak, however, December 1½@⅝c under Friday at 65⅜@65½c and May ⅜@½c lower at 69⅞@70c.

Oats were influenced by the other grains, opening ⅛c down, December at 22½c and May at 23⅞c. Business was very quiet and opening prices prevailed. Receipts here for two days were 468 cars.

Provisions were comparatively firm, buoyed up by the firmness of Liverpool for American products. Trade was light and the hogs supply liberal. Offerings were not large and the demand fair. May pork opened unchanged at $9.60@9.62½; May lard a shade down at $5.30 and May ribs a shade under Friday's close at $5.10@5.12½.

THE CLOSE.

Prices at the close were as follows.

Wheat—Dec., 65⅜@65½c; May, 69⅞@70c.

Corn—Nov., 31c; Dec., 31½c; Jan. 30⅝@30¾c; May, 32⅝c.

Oats—Nov., 22½@22⅝c; Dec., 22½@22⅝c; May, 23⅞c.

Pork—Nov., $8.85; Dec., $8.85; Jan., $9.50; May, $9.60@9.62½.

Lard—Nov., $4.82½; Dec., $4.82½; Jan., $5.12½@5.15; May, $5.32½.

Ribs—Nov., $4.37½; Dec., $4.87½; Jan., $4.85; May, $5.10.

Flax—Cash N. W., $1.39; Cash S. W., $1.39; Dec., $1.39; May, $1.36.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Nov. 27.—Saturday's exceptionally favorable bank statement, coupled with reports of British military successes, caused heavy trading in Americans on the London market. Leading international stocks were advanced moderately with Pennsylvania exceptionally rising 4½. The local market opened with a great show of animation in price all around. Similar sales of 12,000 shares occurred in Pennsylvania at from 135⅛ to 137, as compared with 132½ bid; 6,000 shares of Baltimore and Ohio at from 83½ to 85, and 5,000 Union Pacific brought from 50⅞ to 51⅜. Changes in some of the specialties were a point or two better in way of improvement, but the Grangers and Southwestern shares varied but slightly.

A fierce and sudden raid on Leather dropped it 6 points and other specialties were then attacked. Sugar yielding 3 and Tobacco and Manhattan a point. This checked the buoyancy in the railway group and realizing depressed Baltimore and Ohio issues, Pennsylvania and New York Chesapeake and Ohio was carried above 39 on large transactions and Rio Grande Western preferred rose 2. Otherwise the tendency was downward, accentuated by St. Paul's decrease in October net earnings. That stock reacted 1⅜, Consolidated Gas 1⅝, and the Glucose stocks 2½ each. A number of declines reached a point and Sugar was forced down in the late dealings to 154 and Baltimore and Ohio stocks to the low point. The closing was active and easy at mixed Central 1 to 3 points from the best, net changes.

Business was large and the distribution wide, but the market became quiet by the end of the hour. Prices had reacted in many stocks below Friday's level.

Moderate buying to cover shorts caused rallies in a few shares, and the strength became quite general by midday. Sugar, Baltimore and Ohio preferred, Burlington, Manhattan and Federal Steel were the leaders and averaged over a point. Large takings of Peoria, Decatur and Evansville lifted it 2 points, while Consolidated Gas broke 3½ and rallied 2½. Better prices were obtained for bonds, but the demand centered pretty much in middle trade shares.

NORTHERN INDIANA NOTES.

A free kindergarten association has been formed in Wabash. People are subscribing liberally.

Louis Godden, who escaped from the jail at Goshen and was recaptured at St. Louis, has been identified as a convict of the Joliet (Ill.) prison who had violated his parole. He was transferred to the Illinois authorities.

Christian Schneider, of Orland, has celebrated his eighty-first birthday. He was postmaster of Orland during the administrations of Pierce, Buchanan, Lincoln, Johnson, Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Arthur, Cleveland and Harrison.

Alvarado Haskins, the oldest man in Steuben county, missed rails from his fence. He caught Mat Pember and a companion taking them. He had loaded his carbine, and as Pember started to run, he fired. Forty shot hit Pember, who was arrested.

An action was brought in the Jay circuit court by Joseph Zenor, asking that a receiver be appointed for the Dunkirk Canning company, composed of O. F. Bowman, Thomas M. Hunt and Ella Zehner. Insolvency is alleged. The case will be heard by Judge Smith.

Mrs. Chenowith, widow of the late Dr. George P. Chenowith, of Huntington, who died this week, since the burial has suffered greatly. She occasionally bathed her face and hands in alcohol. Thursday by accident she took a bottle filled with carbolic acid. Mrs. Chenowith is terribly burned.

Mrs. William McKee died at Kokomo of prostration, incident to excessive grief over the conviction of her husband, who has been committed to penal service. Mr. McKee was highly connected and stood well in the neighborhood until found guilty of lynching another man's name to a note which he floated. The governor paroled McKee long enough to visit his dying wife, but he could not reach there until it was too late.

Goshen Democrat: "Christian Yergin, of LaGrange county, was in the city last night. Mr. Yergin is seventy-five years of age and has resided at LaGrange Center for over forty years, yet he saw a street car for the first time yesterday. His son-in-law, Dr. Pollock, took him to Elkhart today over the Goshen-Elkhart interurban line. The old gentleman was delighted with the trip and says that the sooner an electric line is built through LaGrange county the better."

WANT IT REPEALED

ENGINEMEN OBJECT TO THE BELL-RINGING LAW.

PETITION OUT AGAINST IT

ANTI-WHISTLE LAW ALSO A MISTAKE.

RUSSIA IS AFTER OUR CARS

WANTS TO SPEND $5,000,000 IN AMERICA.

It is possible that some amendments will be made to the ordinance concerning the running of engines and trains within the city limits. The clause which requires the ringing of engine bells during the time trains are moving in the city is particularly objectionable to the engineers and firemen and they have a petition in circulation asking for the repeal of the ordinance. The paper is being signed by all and when it is presented to the common council, the name of nearly every engineman in the city will be on it. Another clause forbids the blowing of engine whistles, and this also, the enginemen say, should be repealed. A few days ago a Lake Shore engineer would have run down an old lady who was walking upon the tracks had he not violated this ordinance. He could not attract the attention of the lady by ringing the engine bell, so he sounded the whistle. She immediately looked around and stepped off the tracks just in time to avert an accident. She said she did not hear the bell. The railway men do not object to the rule which compells them to ring the bell as they approach a crossing or during the passage, but they think that constant ringing of the bells during the time they are in the city limits is unnecessary, to say the least. Several of the councilmen who have been interviewed are of the opinion that the matter can be satisfactorily adjusted when it comes before the board. This ordinance recalls to the minds of older railway men a state law which required the blowing of engine whistles when an engine or train approached a crossing and a continuance of the same until after the crossing was passed. In towns where crossings occured at intervals of three or four hundred feet, the engineer who wished to be a law abiding citizen had to keep his whistle sounding all the time. In railway centers the din was terrific and the citizens threatened mob violence unless the nuisance was abated. This law was presented and passed by the legislature without the members giving it more than a passing thought. It was repealed by the next legislature.

CROWDING WORK FORWARD.

W. F. Carmichael, the contractor who is building the Wabash shop addition, has a large force at work and is pushing construction along rapidly. A portable engine and derrick arrived this morning and will be employed in handling stone and brick. Some change in the arrangement of the tracks in the yard are necessary and Foreman C. Fosler is pushing this work forward also with all possible speed.

TESTING LUBRICATORS.

The Pennsylvania shop officials are making some interesting tests with a lubricator of a new and improved pattern and are using engine 277 for that purpose. Engaged in the test work are Master Mechanic B. Fitzpatrick, Road Foreman C. R. Colmey and Shop Foreman Hugh Hogan.

WABASH MEXICAN TOUR.

District Passenger Agent R. G. Thompson has returned from Mexico, where business connected with the coming Wabash Mexican tour took him two or three weeks ago. Mr. Thompson was very successful in his mission and has made arrangements for the entertainment of the tourists, which include a number of extra features never enjoyed by any of the touring parties of the past decade. The train upon which the party will ride will be the finest ever sent into Mexico—a veritable palace on wheels. The excursion leaves this city February 14.

SHOPMAN HURT.

Martin Smith, who operates a tenonning machine in the Pittsburg paning mills, was the victim of an accident this morning, shortly after he commenced work. He had occasion to tighten the bit head of the machine, when the wrench slipped and his left hand went against the sharp knife, cutting a painful gash in the back of the member. Dr. G. C. Stemen dressed the wound.

HIS HORSE FELL ON HIM.

John Grable, engineer at nights on the Pittsburg transfer engine, is still unable to work, his injuries being more serious than he was willing to admit when he met with the accident. It will be remembered that a young horse fell upon Mr. Grable while he was training it about a week ago.

RUSSIA WANTS CARS.

William N. McMillan, a representative of the American Car Foundry company, who has just returned from abroad, says that his company has been offered indirectly a contract to build 3,000 cars for the Russian government, the cars to be manufactured of wood and iron. An order for 200 combination cars is also at the pleasure of the American Car Builders from the same source. The cars are designed for the Trans-Siberian railroad. Should the deal be consummated it will mean an expenditure of nearly $5,000,000. The Russian government is very desirous of establishing car and locomotive works at some convenient point on the line of the Trans-Siberian road and intimates that American capital and enterprise can get some valuable concessions if it can be induced to undertake this work. The project is under consideration at New York and other American financial centers.

WILL IMPROVE PROPERTY.

The Lake Erie and Western company, whose sole policy under the administration of the late Calvin S. Brice appeared to have been the earning and distribution of dividends, contemplates a change and hereafter a portion of the earnings will be expended in betterments to the property. Attention will be given to passenger and freight buildings, many of which are of a "back number" pattern and inadequate to the business of today. It is said that the company has in view, among other improvements on the Fort Wayne branch, a new depot at Bluffton which will be commensurate with the times and the importance, in a business way, of the city in which it is to be located. The present depot in Bluffton was built in 1870, when the town had a population of about 1,000. There are now nearly 6,000 inhabitants in that city and it is one of the best contributors to the business of the Fort Wayne branch of the system. Its citizens feel that, under existing circumstances, they are entitled to better depot and freight facilities and the company appears to be of the same opinion. The plans for the depot have been drawn, submitted to and accepted by the management of the railway and the new building will be erected early in the spring of 1900.

CANAL LINE SOLD.

Hon. R. C. Bell purchased about forty miles of the old Wabash and Erie canal line, in the vicinity of Logansport, last Saturday and the deal has given rise to all sorts of rumors. An electric line is projected over the route and one rumor connects Mr. Bell with the enterprise. Another rumor is to the effect that he has purchased the property in the interest of a steam railway company which desires the defeat of the electric project. Mr. Bell refuses to talk upon the subject and the guessing as to his object continues.

MORE LIBERAL TERMS ASKED.

The New York Board of Trade is endeavoring to get all the roads east of the Mississippi river to adopt a 2,000-mile interchangeable mileage book with a free allowance of 250 pounds of baggage. The movement will hardly succeed, as it meets with opposition from the leading railways of the country, particularly the Pennsylvania. The present mileage book system has resulted in a decrease in the passenger earnings of the lines over which it is used and any further concession to the traveling salesmen, who are supposed to be the sole beneficiaries of the system, is not likely to be granted. The railways claim that the mileage book system has been abused and has been the source of much litigation and annoyance to the companies.

B. OF R. T. IN NEW QUARTERS.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 27.—The officials and office staff of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen have arrived here from Peoria, Ill., and established the headquarters of the organization in the American Trust building. This step was decided upon at the annual convention of the order about three months ago. A movement has been started to move the headquarters of the locomotive firemen's organization to this city. This would concentrate the heads of all of the most important railway orders here, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers having had their headquarters in Cleveland for many years.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Boilermaker H. W. G. Keine, of the Pittsburg shops, is sick.

Chester Durnell and J. B. Lease, Pittsburg engineers, are on the sick list.

F. Kruckenberg, who had been sick a few days, reported for work at the Pittsburg shops this morning.

After a week's illness, Al Throckmorton this morning resumed his place at the forge in the Pittsburg shops.

The color-blind testing car of the Pittsburg is out on the west end of the line this week. Last week it operated on division C.

Cornell Morganthaler, who is now on the road in the interest of the Fort Wayne Electric company, came in last night and will remain here a few days.

Machinist Charles D. Nolan, who had a finger mashed two weeks ago reported at the Pittsburg shops this morning for work. The injured digit is nearly well.

C. H. Smith, a carpenter, and C. Krimmell, a cab builder, are sick and off duty. E. J. Blotkamp, of the planing mills, is taking a lay off to attend to some business matters.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kinkead will be the guests of relatives at Middlepoint, Ohio, Thanksgiving day. Mr. Kinkead has charge of the flue-welding department of the Pittsburg shops.

Benjamin Bower resumed his work in the Pittsburg machine car shop this morning after an absence of two weeks. In company with his wife, Mr. Bower was visiting relatives in and about Wooster, Ohio.

Next Friday H. C. McFadden will become general western passenger agent of the Plant system of railroads, with headquarters at Chicago. He will also look after the interests of the steamer line which is a part of the Plant system.

S. B. Kleber, of the Bass works, is minus a bicycle, which was taken from his barn a few days ago. The theft was probably committed by some boy, and Mr. Kleber has a clue which he thinks will lead to the discovery of the guilty party.

R. M. Nenley, one of the recently employed firemen on the Pittsburg road, has taken a lay off for the purpose of helping in moving his household goods and other possessions of a "portable" character to this city. He comes from Van Wert, Ohio.

Conductor Joseph W. Keeley, of the Pittsburg, has returned from Kansas, feeling greatly benefited by the trip and sojourn there. He indulged in a jack-rabbit chase while west and says it is the finest sport he ever had the pleasure to participate in.

MAKING IMPROVEMENTS.

Workmen have begun extensive improvements on Schroeder's hall, at the corner of Washington street and Broadway, and it is to be converted into a cozy little theater. The hall has frequently been used for theatrical purposes, and it is the intention of the proprietors to book a large number of creditable attractions for the coming winter. The hall will be seated with handsome new opera chairs, the stage will be enlarged, new chandeliers hung and the walls handsomely decorated. The Broadway theater is to be made a credit to the west end of the city.

Has received from Jas. Cunningham, Son & Company the most magnificent equipment of Funeral Cars ever turned out in the United States. This fine outfit is now on exhibition in the Arcade, on West Berry Street. The public is cordially invited to call and inspect these vehicles. They are beyond description---must be seen to be appreciated.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 11th, 1899.

J. C. Peltier, Esq., Fort Wayne, Ind.

DEAR SIR:---We have your three hearses and casket wagon all completed, and are waiting for cars in which to load. Had we the cars we would have been able to have shipped the vehicles today. We hope, however, to be able to get them off on Monday, and trust they will reach you safe and prove satisfactory. It is the handsomest lot of work that has ever left our factory, and know that you will be pleased with it. Hoping for a continuance of your favors, we are,

Very truly yours,

At the meeting of the Allen County Medical association tomorrow evening Dr. G. L. Greenawalt will read a paper on state medical laws, and Dr John Schilling will read a paper on "Hydrotherophy."

Police Clerk Emil Schmidt this morning received fifteen Hartz mountain canaries and is supplying his friends with singers at so much per head. The birds are well marked and beautiful singers.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. O'Brien are in Chicago, where they went to attend the wedding of Mrs. O'Brien's sister, Miss Helen McDonald, to J. C. Bailey, of that city. Miss McDonald has the good wishes of a great many friends here.

The fair to be given by the ladies of the South Congregational church opens Tuesday evening and will continue throuh Friday evening. Refreshments will be served each evening, dinner and supper on Thanksgiving, and supper Friday evening.

A crowd of roughs were walking down Calhoun street Saturday evening, when they encountered four young men going in the opposite direction. One of the toughs started to fight with a member of the other party and the whole crowd immediately took it up and made things lively for a time. Hopkins, captain of the high school foot ball team, was one of those who were attacked and he was severely pounded by three or four of the toughs.

A SILVER WEDDING.

Saturday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Spaulding were pleasantly surprised at their home in Lakeside, the occasion being the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding. In the afternoon the Lakeside Aid society called, and after spending a delightful afternoon, presented them with a number of handsome and valuable presents. In the evening the members of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Berry street M. E. church, accompanied by their husbands, arrived and spent a pleasant evening. This society also left an elegant memento of their visit.

REVIVAL AT WAYNE STREET.

The services at the Wayne street church are to be continued. Several conversions are reported and the people are taking a deep interest. Dr. Lamport is preaching most excellent sermons. Both sermons yesterday were noted ones. He will preach each evening until notice is given otherwise. The singing is good and spiritual. Everybody cordially invited.

WILL CONSOLIDATE.

The members of the Fort Wayne Colony, No. 1, Sons of Columbus, and the members of the recently formed lodge of Knights of Columbus, have been discussing the advisability of merging the former order into the latter, and the initial steps will be taken soon. Nearly all the members of the Sons of Columbus are members of the Knights, and it is thought that by consolidating the two a very strong organization may be formed. If the consolidation takes place, it is probable that the ladies' auxillary, known as the Daughters of Isabella, will be discontinued and a new organization formed to replace it.

WILL MEET TONIGHT.

At the city hall at 8 o'clock this evening a meeting will be held to take the preliminary steps toward organizing a volunteer infantry company in this city, to be mustered into the Indiana national guard. Nearly the required number have already signified their willingness to join the new organization, and its formation is reasonably certain. Among other business to be transacted this evening is the selection of a hall and arranging a date for the mustering of the men into the service.

Dr. Miles F. Porter desires to announce that from this date he will limit his practice to Surgery, Obstetrics, Diseases of Women and Consultations.

All day Saturday and today the sidewalk in front of the Hoosier Shoe Store has been thronged with ladies admiring the unique display of ladies' patent leather dress boots that this house will sell for $2.48. The sale commences tomorrow morning and will continue only four days.

The proprietors of the new store have put in the biggest line of fine furniture in the city, and desire to give all the patrons all the time possible to see it.

BLACK ROCK.

From the "St. Louis Globe-Democrat." "'Ralph Connor' is some man's nom de plume. The world will insist on knowing whose. One who can write such a book as 'Black Rock' has no right to conceal his identity behind a pen name. Not since 'Ian Maclenren' gave us the 'Bonnie Briar Bush' stories has any one produced so moving a series of sketches as this tale of the Selkirks. 'Ralph Connor' has gone into the heart of the Northwest Canadian mountains and has painted for us a picture of life in the lumber and mining camps of surpassing merit. With perfect wholesomeness, with exquisite delicacy, with entire fidelity, with truest pathos, with freshest humor he has delineated character, has analyzed motives and emotions and has portrayed life. Some of his characters deserve immortality, so faithfully are they created. Chief of these is the young minister who gives his best endeavors for the spiritual, moral and material advancement of the rough miners and lumbermen, gathered there from many lands and climes, and the saintly, gentle Mrs. Mavor, who so ably seconds his efforts. And there are rough men, but most of them rough only in exterior and by force of circumstances; their hearts are big and warm and filled with that which is best in man. 'Black Rock,' if it has a reading commensurate with its merits, will prove one of the most popular, as it is one of the best and most wholesome books of the year." A limited number of these books can be had at this office at 75c each. Regular price, $1.25.
